The Recensio
1928
Published by the
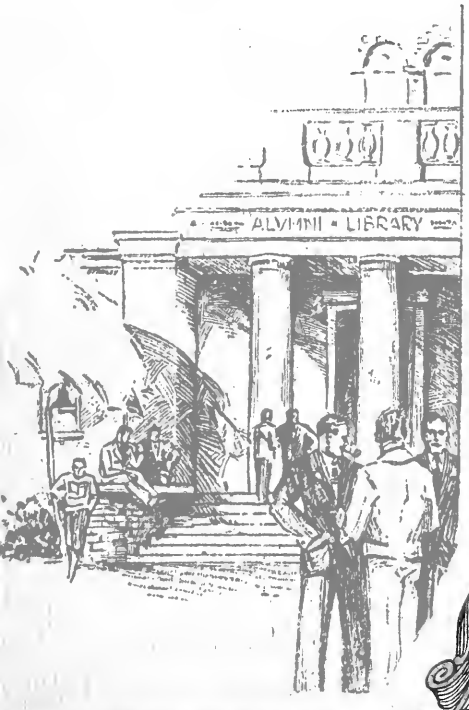
Miami University
Oxford Ohio

Foreword



What are these four years from life? These pages attempt to answer, to portray college life, to capture its meaning, to ascertain its relation to later life.

Raymond P. Hughes
He worked to advance Miami, to develope the highest in manhood and womanhood. In appreciation we sincerely dedicate to him this '28 Recensio.

Spirit of Miami

From a century-old tradition it comes — a power which has led Miami's sons to honorable service — a challenge which calls students to be friendly, to play square, to achieve the highest.

University

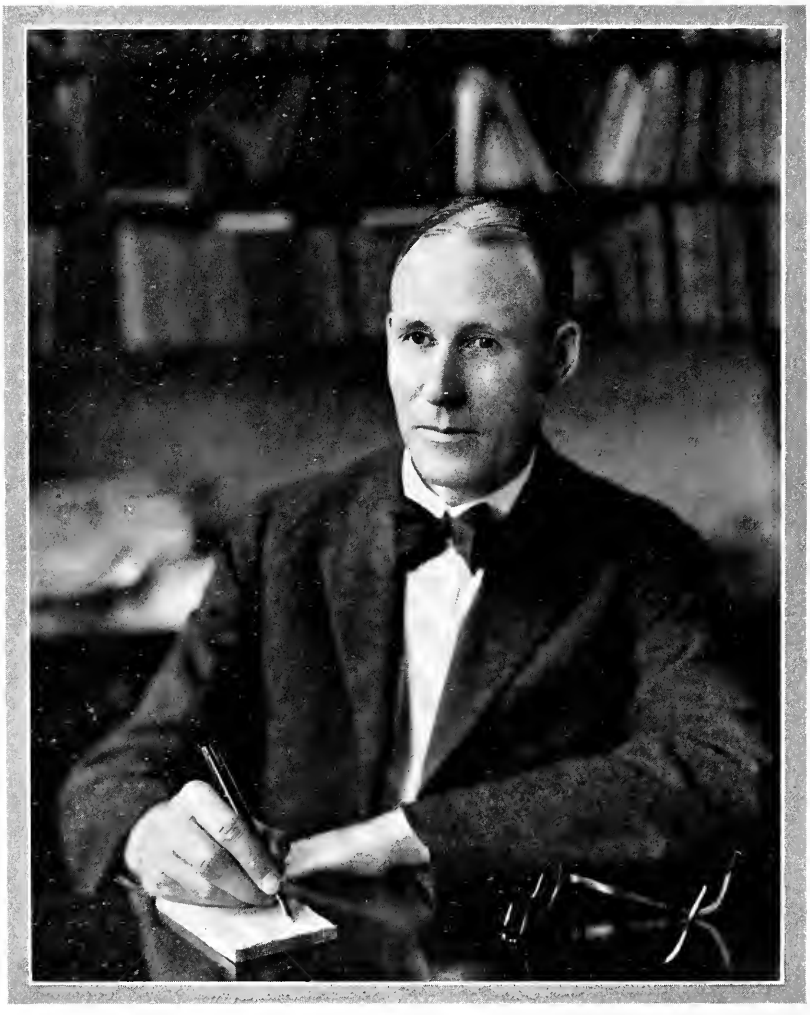
Today

To every student comes the privilege of of associating with those who, going before, have explored the paths of truth. To every professor comes the opportunity of participating in the onward surge of youth, of discovering its potentialities, and of inspiring it to higher endeavor.

Tomorrow

These associations will become a vital part in the life of each student. Through their influence he will think clearly, speak wisely, live well. For him life will hold the ideal as well as the practical. Upon a foundation thus obtained he will build the towers of life's achievements.

ADMINISTRATION



RAYMOND MOLYNEAUX HUGHES, LL.D.
President

For more than a quarter of a century Raymond Molyneaux Hughes was dominant in promoting the highest interests of Miami University, first as student, then as teacher and finally as President. Under his capable leadership the university has grown much, in size, in physical equipment, and in service rendered. His splendid work here will leave its traces upon the pages of the university's history which are yet to be unfolded. We are sorry to lose him, but happy for his advancement. It is with interest that we will watch his future success.

ALFRED HORATIO UPHAM, LL.D.
President

We like to think of President Upham as an old friend returning to share with us the broad experience which has been his since his time of graduation from Miami in 1897. Satisfaction and pride is ours as we view the record of his achievements at the University of Idaho. Under the leadership of a man who has the breadth of mind, the inspiring influence, and the understanding of human nature, shown thus far by our new president, the future of Miami seems assured.

SENIORS

Senior Class

For four years they have worked together for themselves and Miami; now this time is over and they depart leaving an enviable record behind them. As scholars they began well, and have always been well represented on the honor roll. Eighteen of them received the distinction of Phi Beta Kappa. They were not one-sided in their activities, though, for we find among them a wealth of athletic material that will be missed when practice begins next year. They have also excelled in other activities; this is shown by their records on the publications, the dramatics, and organizations.

All their activities and work did not cause them to slight the social life. It was the class of '28 that helped to make the social affairs the success that they were. They were the last to abandon the "shadowed benches" in the fall and the first to take advantage of the warm spring days for strolls through lower campus or along the Talawanda.

Their four years here have taught them much. As they leave they realize more than before what their Alma Mater has come to mean in their lives. They go out to live the principles which they have learned from her. From undergraduates to alumni is a great step, and as they take it, we wish them "Good Luck."

JUNIORS

Junior Class

There is perhaps something in the idea that the Junior class is the least conspicuous class in school. We have become acclimated to such an extent that most of the verdure of our Frosh days is gone. None of the unknown qualities of the Sophs remain. We have not yet reached the height of accomplishment and dignity of the Senior. We are remembered chiefly as the sponsors of the Prom and the publishers of the year book. Judging from this alone it would seem that our year has been successful for the former was commended by all, the latter is being judged by you now.

However, it is perhaps safe to say that the class of '29 is building up a fairly good reputation. Six have been proficient enough to gain the recognition of Phi Beta Kappa. Nine Juniors won positions on the Big Red gridiron squad. In basketball we proved our worth with six men on the squad. Other lines of athletics also find the Juniors at the top, both in numbers participating and the worth of that participation.

As Commencement time approaches, we remember that in another short year we too will be joining the ranks of the alumni, and we, realizing our many mistakes of the past, determine to make the last year mean more, both for ourselves and for Miami.

SOPHOMORES

R. Goacher, Pres.

Sophomore Class

With the exception of the rough treatment given the Freshmen as chastisement for not wearing their caps and the consequent abolition of Dagger and Chain, the Sophomore men have done nothing particularly terrible this year.

They seem to have seriously undertaken the task of upholding the social side of campus life. From the number of '30 sweaters up in Willis's and the Purity one concludes that they have accomplished their purpose. But along with the individual social affairs comes the social affair sponsored by the class as a whole.

The Sophomore Hop of 1927 was a decided success, giving evidence of what may be expected of them next year.

Along with the social side has gone the athletic side. On the football team were found a goodly number of Sophomores. On the basektball team the Sophomores were well represented. On the track squad and the baseball squad they gave a very good account of themselves, nor were the intramural and minor sports neglected by this versatile class.

From present indications a goodly number should make Phi Beta Kappa next year while forensics were dominated by the class this year.

A. Althauser, Treas.

An accident to "Bob" Goacher, Sophomore president, gave the class a bad start in that it deprived them of him for at least a year; but for this they might very likely have done even more than they did.

In the two years that the Sophomore women have been in school they have made themselves felt. From the beginning of their Freshman year they have shown a great interest in athletics. They took a leap into the limelight when they won the outdoor track meet and volley ball championship, and lost the Gym meet by a few points. This year determined to do better they came back and avenged their last year's defeat.

Their entrance into other activities has shown them to be very versatile. As yearlings they took part in forensic work and got much training for varsity debating. This year six of the nine members of the women's debate squad were Sophomores. Not satisfied with this they have entered the fields of dramatics, and journalism; already they have taken leading parts in plays produced, and done much work on the paper and year book.

While engaged in these various activities they have not neglected the scholastic side of their college life. Several members are well on the road toward election to Phi Beta Kappa.

FRESHMEN

L. Blankenship, Pres.
I. McFarland, V. Pres.

Freshman Class

The men of the class of '31 first showed their prowess by overwhelming the Sophomores the night of their annual clash. Since then they have borne the brunt of attacks of varsities that have won a conference championship in football and a tie for first place with two other schools in basketball. The calibre of the men who turned out for the various sports assures Miami of winning teams for the next three years.

One of the new things started by the freshmen was the dances held at Fisher Hall. They were so successful that they will probably be continued in the years to come. Another innovation was the founding of a chapter of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honor society for men, last March. In order to qualify for membership one must have an average of B plus for the semester or year, the same average as that required for Phi Beta Kappa. In scholastic standing the Freshmen ranked second to the seniors in the number to obtain a B average or better.

The period of servitude came to an end the night before spring vacation when the annual cap burning exercises were held. This was followed by the biggest dance of the freshman year at which the yearlings were hosts to the University.

The Freshman girls found the skies on their side this year when, at the invitation of the Sophomores, they dressed up in their gala rags and went about the campus with mismated stockings and shoes, dresses on backward, and green ribbons in evidence, for the umbrellas they all thoughtfully carried were used to keep off the rain that poured down. We might add that the umbrellas were also used to cover many an embarrassed face and also some sly smiles as the owners watched the upperclassmen plod by in only oily slickers while they could use the umbrellas as well.

But aside from Freshman Week and the one day particularly mentioned, the Freshmen weren't conspicuous. They soon abandoned the peculiarities that were noticeable during that hectic Freshman Week and except for the pledge pins one would hardly be able to distinguish them from upperclassmen. They have quietly gone about their work and settled down to the business of getting a good scholastic record. The grades noted show that they have succeeded admirably. It was noticeable how few of the yearlings "went home" either before the semester or after the reports were filed. Truly, this gives promise of a good future for Miami.

But they did not confine their activities to grades only. They took a very active part in the women's athletics and gave the Sophomores considerable trouble in the Gym meet. They have enthusiastically formed Freshman debate teams and have engaged in several intercollegiate debates with the University of Cincinnati Freshmen and those of St. Xavier. They have secured places on the literary publications and are showing up well in musical endeavors.

Sowninge in moral vertu was his speche,
And gladly wolde he lerne, and gladly teche.

Chaucer: The Clerk of Oxford.

TEACHERS COLLEGE

The Sophomores of the Teachers College are the class that is neither seen nor heard, unless one happens to be passing through the corridors of McGuffey and hears the William McGuffey students answering and asking questions of their "student" teachers. It is there that the Sophomore T. C.'s spend most of their time. No time is left for the activities that are noticed by the student body and no important positions are garnered by that class.

The course these people are taking is only a two-year one. During their Freshman year they find out just how much they do not know and then they spend their Sophomore year trying to crowd the work of two years into it. Most of the T. C. Sophomores have a definite life work in mind and are pursuing that which helps them toward their goal.

But with all the work the course requires this class still found time to have athletic teams worthy of consideration. In their first year a basketball championship was won and that reputation was adequately upheld again this year.

Freshman T. C. Class

The Freshmen of the Teacher's College are those who have decided to make teaching their life work and are preparing themselves especially along those lines. With only a year at Miami, these girls find their college careers are half over. They have hardly found their place in our midst when they must look forward to graduation. In the two year course the work must of necessity be specialized and a great amount done during the two years. The requirements of the teacher's course are so heavy and the activities within it so numerous that extensive participation in campus activities is impossible for the members of this college. In no other course is the work so concentrated.

A fine type of young women is found in this class in the Teacher's College. They are girls who have already decided upon the place which they wish to fill. They see their goal and are working toward it. Earnestness and sincerity combined with ability are shown in their efforts. Each year finds an increase in the enrollment of the Teacher's College. There was a time when those who could do nothing else, became teachers. That time is past. As education has gradually assumed the place it rightfully should have, so has the standard for the teacher risen, and as a result more capable persons have been attracted to that profession.

"The foundation of every state is the education of its youth," said Diogenes, and Diogenes lived in a time when the complex civilization of the modern age was a far-fetched stretch of the imagination. If such was true in his day, how much more must it be true now, when man is constantly called upon to wage intellectual war with his fellow men in order to survive. It is just this that the Teacher's College and those in it have recognized and attempted to prepare for, in the building of a system where the trainers of posterity can themselves be trained so that their efforts may be more worth while and that they may ever attain their greater ends.

Educators must constantly be on the alert, keeping a guiding hand on the progress of civilization, pointing out from their vantage point the true course that should be run; bringing to a more understandable form the wisdom gained from the past, and urging on to greater efforts those who are capable of leaving their mark upon the body of knowledge already assembled. Educational institutions are constantly changing. Today pupils are studied and treated as individuals because the teacher understands her task and is thus able to lead the students to higher achievement.

Today educators are beginning to realize the tremendous effect the teacher has in shaping the habits, the character, the personality of her pupils. No longer is she considered as a pedagogue whose chief job is to teach reading, writing, and arithmetic. These are only secondary. The more important aim is to help the pupil to discover himself, to realize his own ability. Each pupil thus becomes an individual case with different possibilities. The emphasis is now placed upon making the individual mentally and physically efficient, developing habits, skill, and appreciations. By making the pupil feel his responsibilities to his school community, the teacher trains him for a position of civic responsibility and leadership. The girls of the Teacher's College believe with Joseph Addison that "what sculpture is to a block of marble, education is to an human soul," and it is to take part in this most important movement that they are training themselves.

Let's play it out—this little game called Life,
Where we are listed for so brief a spell;
Not just to win, amid the tumult rife,
Or where acclaim and gay applauses swell;
Nor just to conquer where some one must lose,
Or reach the goal whatever be the cost;
For there are other, better ways to choose,
Though in the end the battle may be lost.

Grantland Rice: The Game.

Coaches

That the outstanding success of Miami inter-collegiate and intra-mural athletic teams has been in no small part a result of the efforts of a diligent and efficient coaching staff is indisputable. Considering the past year, Miami students, alumni, and friends can view the results with unusual satisfaction. Those largely responsible for the victories won should be lauded.

George L. Rider may be called the dean of them all, for as director he has superintended all athletics. Chester M. Pittser, fighter and true sportsman, has coached a championship baseball and football team during the past year. Through his untiring efforts Roy E. Tillotson has placed the Miami quintet in a high position in Ohio basketball competition. M. C. Ditmer, added to the staff this year as head Frosh coach, has done much to prepare the first year men to seek new honors for Miami. Intra-mural activities and gymnastic work directed by Thomas P. VanVoorhis called out many men, and did much to bring about the participation of all Miami men in some form of athletics.

Themselves imbued with high ideals, these men have pointed Miami athletes forward, and are responsible for the clean spirit of the Big Red men and the high position Miami occupies in the athletic world.

FOOTBALL

Varsity Football

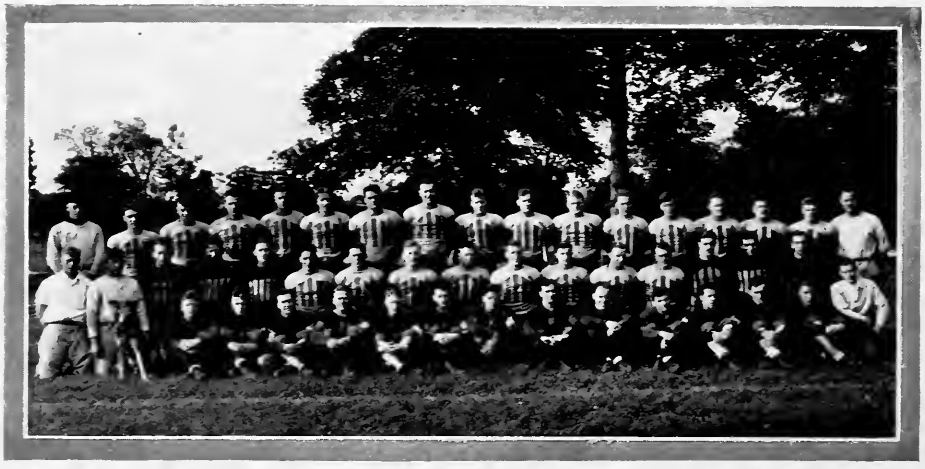
AS co-champions with Muskingum for the Ohio Conference football, the Big Reds of 1927 schedule was replete with exciting and hard fought games. An exposition of the combats tells of long runs to touchdown, brilliant line-play and scintillating serial attack.

The team was developed by Coach Pittser about a nucleus of thirteen letter men. As the season advanced new men acquired the skill of experience, rose to the occasion and established themselves as members of the outfit.

Captain Oswald, Thatcher, Stryker, Wohlwender, Ewbanks, Sielaff, and Ott were all in their last year of competition. These men have made football fame for Miami University. Wohlwender, Stryker, Thatcher, Oswald with McCall and Richardson were repeatedly named on various mythical teams.

Both in victory and defeat the Big Reds have been fighters—clean hard fighters, who have won the admiration and enthusiastic support of an ever-greater coterie of sport-lovers.

Whatever lean years have fallen to the lot of the Red and White are now memories of the past. Miami gridmen have fought their way to the top rung of the ladder. We can now look back on the sparse years of the past and smile in the knowledge that they lie behind us.



Frosh Football

DEVELOPMENT of a versatile and well-organized Freshman football squad was the first task confronting M. A. Ditmer, Miami's most recent addition to the coaching staff. To say that Ditmer did his duty exceptionally well is only a small part of the tribute that belongs to such a capable and inspiring sportsman.

Night after night Ditmer and his Frosh cohorts drilled upon the fundamentals of the game and prepared the execution of plays used by coming Big Red opponents. Against the Varsity the yearling squad demonstrated a plucky and unflinching fight. No small part of the honor achieved by Miami's 1927 champions is directly traceable to the practice scrimmage against the Frosh.

At the close of the season sweaters and numeral awards were made to the following men: Centers, Fetters, Wertz, and Rogers; guards, Hughes, Strobel, and Taurman; tackles, Grubb, Pauls, and Thom; ends, Halpin and Lorenz; quarter backs, Blankenship and Brown; half backs, Carnes, Hurley, Means, and Swartwood; full back, Butler. Numerals were presented to Christy, Gordon, Hoffer, and Minnich, and Managers McDonald and Cunningham.

Miami tears a hole in Denison's line

Bent on a winning football season for 1927, Miami opened by trouncing Hanover 80 to 0. Although a decidedly easy Marathon for the Big Reds, Coach Pittser disclosed to the waiting public the fact that the Miami machine would be one of the most powerful in local history. Numerous substitutions were made during the game to get a line on reserve material and what could be expected from the men in the coming tilts.

Working under wraps for most of the game the Big Reds ran rough shod over the Otterbein eleven to win the first Ohio Conference game of the year. Evidences of a tremendously strong offense and a defense as reliable were constantly apparent.

Every coach must of necessity "point" his team for certain crucial contests in which the plums of victory are more tasty than in any other game and likewise more difficult of attatinment. Such were the Big Red combats with the Wesleyan Bishops, Oberlin and the Cincinnati Bearcats. For the third victory of the season Miami defeated the highly-touted Battling Bishops, 35 to 7, on Edwards Field at Delaware in the most disastrous defeat handed Wesleyan in six years.

Harry Stryker's spectacular run of 95 yards for the second Miami touchdown in the early part of the first period will go down in B. A. A. history. Stryker accounted for two other touchdowns as did Chump Richardson. Wohlender at quarterback was in top form and added five points on kicks from placement. Wesleyan's only tally came in the initial period when Breese crossed on a 25 yard pass from Halliday and kicked the point.

A fast running and passing attack was responsible for the Miami offensive supremacy. At times when the Bishops threatened to score the Red and White line held like the Rock of Gibraltar. Captain Oswald and Thatcher and McCall were in every play and with Klepinger and Sielaff demonstrated one of the most powerful lines in Ohio.

An exciting moment in the Wittenberg game

The Big Reds hope of a football title remained unshattered with their 26 to 0 victory over Denison in one of the toughest battles of the season. Miami held the upper hand throughout the entire contest but Denison put up tougher opposition in the second half than any other team thus far encountered.

In the feature event of the largest Homecoming day in the history of the University Miami's Red and White gridmen won a glorious victory over the ancient Oberlin rivals by the decisive score of 23 to 0. Coach Pittser's team that lined up before the seventy-five hundred attendants displayed a precision, a dash and a determination that refused the loss of the elusive will o' the wisp victory.

The Big Reds exhibited some of the smartest football of the season and when the skirmish of the last play had ended, team and rooters alike, felt a well earned victory.

Wittenberg fails to penetrate Miami's defense

Standing squarely in the path of a cyclonic eleven from Springfield, Ohio, the Big Red men lowered their heads and battled ferociously before the largest crowd in Miami history. The final score, 23 to 0 in favor of Wittenberg, tells nothing of the dogged resistance of the Miami team nor does it hint of the indomitable fighting spirit or the unlucky breaks of the Red and White team.

Wittenberg was good— but from the figures it might well have been a Miami victory. The Big Reds made 17 first downs to 3 for Wittenberg and gained 194 yards from scrimmage to the visitors 84.

Traveling to Ada for the seventh skirmish of the season, the reinvigorated Miami eleven crushed a weak Polar Bear in a game at times marred by snow and a strong wind. Dunwoody, quarterback for Ohio Northern, thrilled the Homecoming throng with a 104 yard dash for a touchdown early in the opening minutes of play. From that point on the Big Reds had complete sway and demonstrated to all concerned that they ought to win the remaining games of the schedule.

Against the University of Dayton Flyers Coach Pittser's remarkable 1927 team showed a complete revival of form and upset the Air City boys, 7 to 6, in the first defeat handed them by an Ohio team since 1923. A dazzling attack in the opening minutes of play brought the oval in a position for Wohlwender to shoot a pass across the line to Larick. While the crowd was frantic, Eddie calmly place-kicked for the extra point.

Dayton's tally came early in the final quarter on a pass from Jocko to Swan. Swan missed the point after touchdown. Stryker and Thatcher were the outstanding performers for Miami. It was Thatcher who halted play after play, time after time, at every part of the forward wall.

Fighting half in a sea of mud and in the presence of ten thousand wild football fans, Miami's gridmen dug their claws deep into the hide of the Cincy Bearcat and won a glorious victory 17 to 14, on Thanksgiving in Nippert Stadium. The Cincy Bearcat has been traditionally the most bitter athletic rival of the Red and White. Victory over the Bearcat goes a long way toward the making of a successful season in any sport.

Through three quarters the Bearcats showed the way with a 14 point lead. Hectic luck in the pinches and trouble with fumbles challenged the Miamians every minute. However in the last of the third period came the Big Red "piece de resistance" and a virtual rout of the Bearcat. Reserve material and a typical Miami tenacity were chief contributors to the season's most memorable and climactic victory.

Football Summary

AT the annual "M" banquet eighteen varsity football letters were awarded. The players who received this distinction were Captain Oswald, Sielaff, Ott, and Coleman, guards; Thatcher, center; McCall, Klepinger, McEntire, Shuster, and McPhillips, tackles; Richardson and Fletcher, ends; Ewbanks and Wohlwender, quarter backs; Whittaker, Larick, and Tillman, half backs and Stryker, full back. Manager letters were awarded to Young and George.

Sometime after the recognition of the Big Reds as the champions of the Ohio Conference, the student body presented the lettermen, the coaches and Dr. Wade MacMillan with gold footballs, as a token of appreciation for the team's accomplishment.

It is quite unusual for one team to contribute four men to a mythical eleven chosen from six teams, but such was the honor paid the Big Reds when it was made known that the B. A. A. coaches had chosen the entire right side of the Miami line—Captain Oswald, McCall, and Richardson, and Stryker, full back, on the first B. A. A. team. "Red" Thatcher was chosen as center on the second team, Wohlwender was given first honorable mention among the quarter backs.

Considering the nine games of the 1927 schedule the superiority of the Red and White team is evidenced by a glance at the total scores. The Big Reds were able to register 175 points to their opponents 56, 25 of which were scored in one game.

The chief individual contributor to this high total was Harry Stryker who crossed the opponents last white line twelve times during the season for 72 points. Stryker also led the teams as a ground gainer. His 95 yard run against Wesleyan for a touchdown was the longest run in the association during 1927.

BASKETBALL

Varsity Basketball

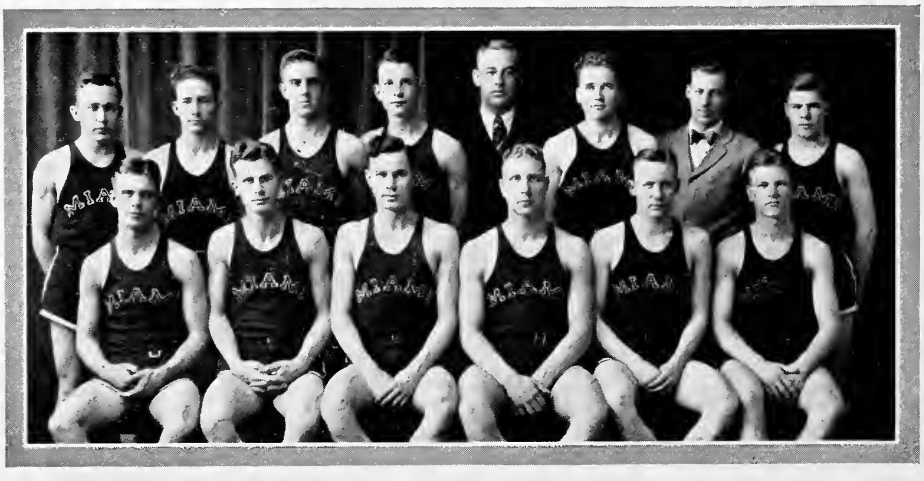
COACH ROY E. TILLOTSON lead another of his high-powered basketball quintets through an exceedingly successful, difficult, and colorful schedule during the 1927-28 season. That Miami won twelve out of fifteen contests played and tied with Ohio Wesleyan for second place in the B. A. A. is a commendable record.

From the year before, Leahy, Bowers, Taylor, Richardson, Hindman, Canfield, Ewbank, and Douglas were back in uniform and ready to go. In addition a promising group of Sophomores reported for practice.

The offensive power of the team is shown in the fact that the Red and White scored over 400 points in the B. A. A., to lead all other teams. Taylor, high point man of the Association, and Canfield and Richardson, two others in the first ten, wore Miami colors.

A one-point defeat by Cincinnati in the overtime game at Oxford early in January cost Miami the Buckeye championship. However the Big Reds partly atoned for this in the thrilling and dramatic victory over the Bearcats in the last game.

Since Coach Tillotson's reign the Miami quintet has won for itself a place in the hardwood sun. With all men returning except Bowers, Leahy and Ewbank, who are lost by graduation, the Big Reds can confidently look forward to a successful 1928-29 season.



Frosh Basketball

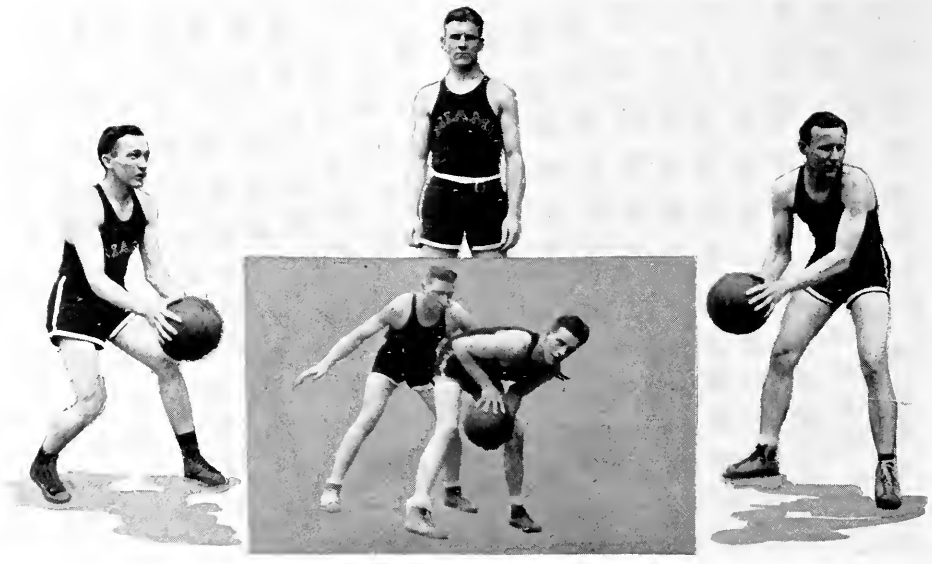
OUT of nearly a hundred candidates reporting for the first call for Freshman basketball players, Coaches Ditmer and Pittser combed and culled the yearling aggregation until the elimination process had left a squad of fourteen speedy and clever players.

When the personnel of the squad was better known it was found that among these fourteen men were some of the best net men that Ohio high schools had produced.

After a few weeks of preliminary drilling and study of fundamentals, the Freshmen were drilled to meet the varsity. Team-work was made the watchword of their play and the style used, although it did not develop any outstanding stars, did teach every man on the squad to handle the ball well and to work with his fellows.

As Pittser and Ditmer returned from scouting trips they would endeavor to choose from the squad those men who could best imitate the style of the players of the coming opponents. These chosen men would practice the plays of the opposition and work as a team against the Varsity.

Sweaters and numerals were awarded to the following men: Centers, Steinhauer, Lange, and Halpin; guards, Bevis, Bergstrom, Doyle, Hoffer, Moyer, Strobel, and Taurman; forwards, Blankenship, Butler, Gordon, and Gerrard.



Leahy Taylor Richardson

The highly touted Big Red men were first exposed to the fire of the enemy sharpshooters this season on December 15, when they defeated Earlham College at Richmond, Indiana, 32 to 25. During the Christmas vacation Coach Tillotson gave his squad a fair test by matching them against the Hamilton Y, Kentucky State and Georgetown, Ky. Hamilton was easily defeated 40 to 20, while the two Kentucky teams were set back, 36 to 31 and 46 to 32 respectively.

In the first B. A. A. game on the Miami schedule, January 1, the crafty Big Red cagers blasted the hopes of Wittenberg by passing and shooting their way to a 45 to 27 victory. Two years had passed since Miami had vanquished a Lutheran quintet.

On January 14, Cincy's Bearcats handed the Red and White a jolt when they won a one-point victory, 36 to 35, over Miami in an over-time period. It was a great battle for anyone to lose. Taylor, Canfield and Richardson led the Miami scorers and Bolton and Flax the Bearcats.

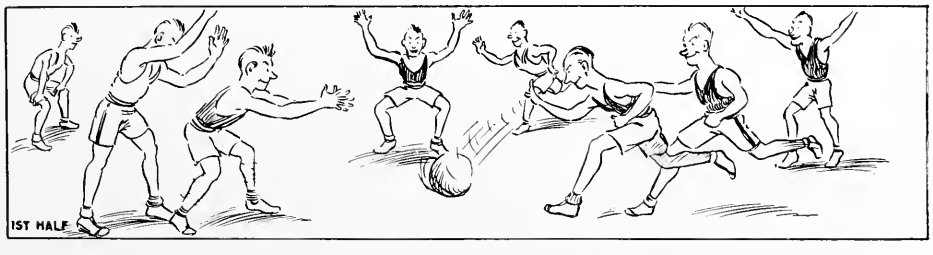
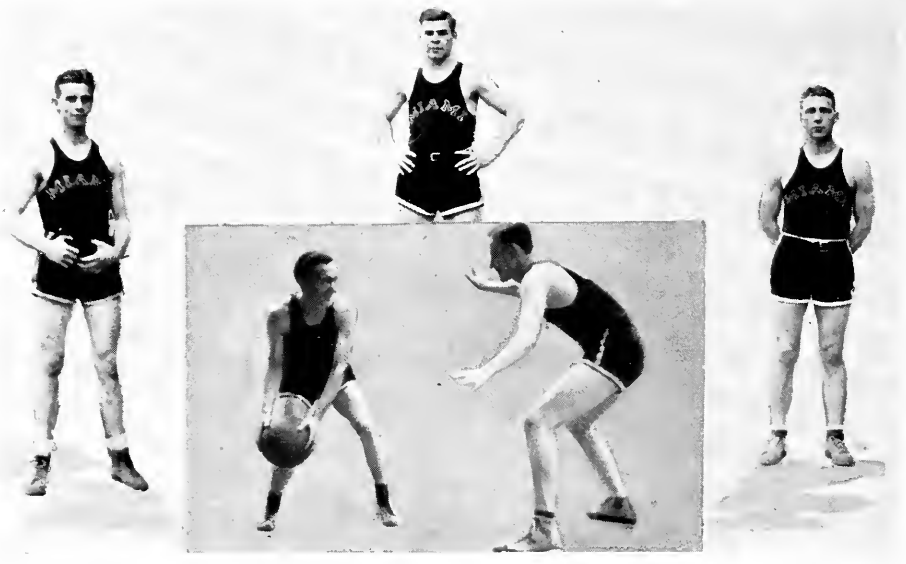
Denison, 1926-1927 B. A. A. Champions, were the second Association victims of the Big Reds on January 18 at Granville. Miami won, but their victory was not so impressive, and it revealed a long, hard row before the taps were sounded on the 1927-28 season.

At home again on January 21 the Red and White won its second over-time game against Wesleyan 45 to 40. Throughout the hair-raising combat, the score seesawed back and forth. 37 to 37 it stood at the end of the game. In the extra time Paul Taylor sank three field goals and Leahy two fouls to a foul and a goal for the Bishops. Taylor was easily the star of the fracas.



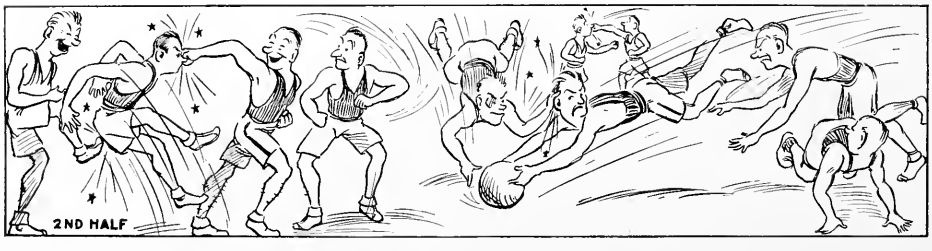


Clouser Ewbank McEntire

A second defeat a few days later placed the Big Reds lower in the percentage column. This time the trick was turned by Ohio University. The Big Red netters showed a complete reversal of form and lost to the famous "home-floor" aggregation, 36 to 28.

Returning to the home-floor the Miamians took on the task of conquering Muskingum, last year champs of the Ohio Conference. Miami demonstrated her superiority in a strategic style, winning 40-35. It was one of the much sought victories of the season, because of the tie with Muskingum for 1927 Ohio football honors.

Meeting the strong Wittenberg hoopsters for the second game on their home court Feb. 11, the Big Red quintet sent the Lutherans down 51-37. The victory came easily and coach Tillotson used many reserve men in the last of the game.

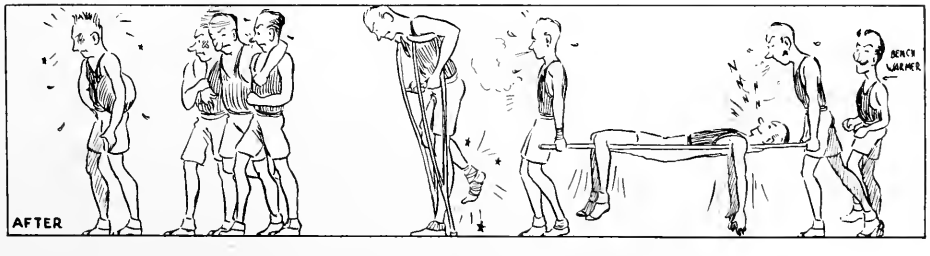


J. Douglas Edwards Horrigan, Mgr. L. Douglas

A few days later Miami was further shoved down in the percentage column by defeat at the hands of the Wesleyan Bishops on the home-floor. At the half the count stood 17-17, but the Wesleyan attack, superior to anything they had shown this year, gave them an edge in the final score which was 42-32.

The following two games at Oxford were easy victories for Tillotson's men. Ohio U. was let down 51-32, and a week later Denison was sent home on the short end of a 48-25 score.

With a vision of a tie for second place in the B. A. A. and on ancient desire to banish the Bearcat, Miami trekked to Cincy March 1, for the final stand. Completely upsetting the forecast, the Big Reds vanquished the Bearcat 39-38. Little Don Leahy sank the necessary goal thirty seconds before the end of his basketball career. The story of the game is a cherished memory of every loyal Miamian. It was a fitting finish to a splendid and colorful season.



Basketball Summary

LETTERS in basketball for the season of 1927-28 were awarded to Leahy, Taylor, Richardson, Canfield, Jack Douglas, Lloyd Douglas, Hindman, McEntire and Manager Paul Horrigan. The basis of awards coincided with the requirements of the Buckeye Athletic Association as agreed upon in 1927. In order to be eligible for a Varsity letter a player must have participated in one-half the total number of halves played by his team against other B. A. A. teams.

In the personnel of the squad are some of the most versatile court performers in the state. Paul Taylor, twice leader of the individual scorers of Ohio, is hailed as the best at Miami in years.

Don Leahy, George Bowers, Wilbur Ewbank and Bud Clouser are four other forwards of better than average ability. Among the guards Richardson is outstanding because he was always assigned to the best scoring forward of the opposing five. Lee Hindman, Don McEntire, Jack Douglas, Harry Edwards and Lloyd Douglas were other high class performers at the guard position.

Weldon Canfield, tall and rangy, was shifted to the center position this year. Besides his high-scoring ability he was very valuable as a floor man.

For the fifteen games Taylor scored 217 points, Canfield 123 and Richardson 100. These men were ranked in the ten high point men in Ohio.

This team was the first to play under the recent "no captain" ruling of the Miami Athletic Board of Control. During the season Leahy, Taylor, Bowers, Richardson and Hindman were appointed by Tillotson as captain. According to the coach and the team the plan was completely satisfactory.

TRACK

Varsity Track

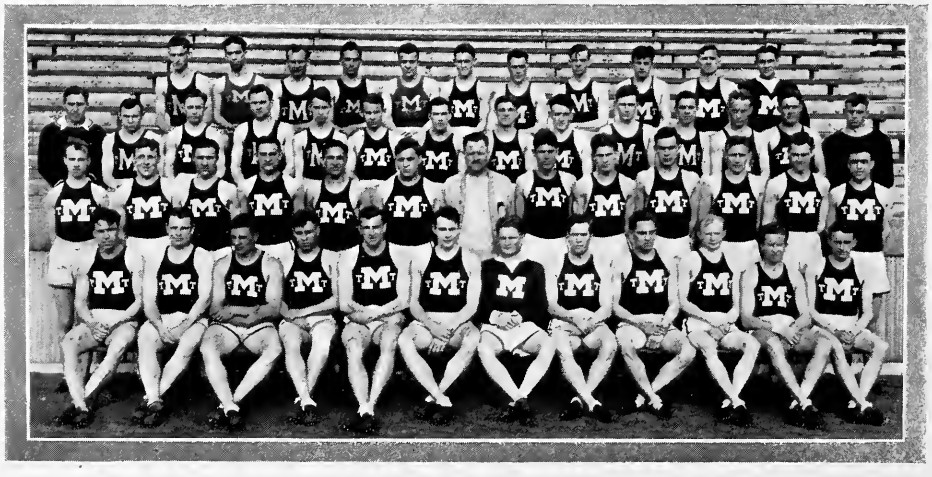
IF the ability of coaches alone could turn out championship track teams, Miami University would have had such a team since the first season George L. Rider took the helm. The Big Red track destinies are in the hands of one of the best liked and most capable coaches in Ohio, and if it were humanly possible for a championship to be won with the available material Coach Rider would be the man to do the deed.

To all outward appearances Miami started the 1927 season with a comparatively strong track squad. With several individual stars and considerable material the outlook was promising.

Captain Emery, and Weber, and Landis, in the distance runs, Lampson, and Coy in the quarter and half, Wright and Umbenhauer in the dashes, Riddle and Thatcher in the hurdles, Reeble and Darling in the vault, Wagner and Baker in the high jump, and Smith and Fletcher in the field events seemed good enough to garner points in every meet.

However, the injury hoodoo that has dogged the steps of many track teams, played havoc with several Miami contestants from time to time during the season.

In face of set-backs Rider did good and developed a number of men who were coming along well at the end of the season and who will be heard from in the future.



Frosh Track

B. A. A. FRESHMAN CHAMPIONS for 1927. This was the enviable record achieved by the 1927 Miami Frosh track squad. The turnout for the spring practice was one of the best in the history of the institution. With this goodly supply of material to work with, Coach Don Jacobs, ex-captain and star hurdler of the Big Red tracksters, saw bright prospects of moulding an Association winner and incidentally developing several performers who will probably be of great value to the 1928 varsity.

Although the yearlings are not allowed to compete side by side with other Association Frosh, the plan of telegraphic meets proved of great interest.

In the first telegraphic track meet on May 4-5, the first-year men completely swamped the Ohio Wesleyan Freshmen. By scoring 94.7 points this squad also won the B. A. A. Championship on May 18-19. Ohio U. was second with 69.5 and Wesleyan third with 55.9

Demaline in 220, low hurdles, and broad jump, Wolf in the dashes, Davis in the jumps, Vossler and Bollechino in the weights, Goacher and Davison in the distance runs, and Wiseman and Oberholzer in the quarter and half-mile have unusually bright varsity possibilities.

Close finish in the hundred at Big Six

Several of Miami's outstanding trackmen were selected by Coach Rider to compete in the Ohio Relays at Columbus, April 23. Considering the battered condition of the squad and the freezing weather encountered, the squad acquitted themselves well.

The distance medley relay team composed of Coy in the quarter, Schroder in the half, Landis in the three-quarters, and Captain Emery in the mile, won second place. Michigan State Normal, winner, set a new record in the event.

Umbenhauer won third place in the 100-yard dash for college entries.

team of the University of Cincinnati defeated the Big Red squad 68⅓ to 63⅔ in the first dual meet of the season at Cincinnati, April 30. Many a season had passed since the Bearcats had won a dual meet from Miami, but honors are honors and Cincy won them this time. Emery and Riddle of Miami and Bennett of Cincy each won two firsts.

A sterling array of tracksters from Ohio Wesleyan invaded Oxford on May 7, and ran, jumped, vaulted and threw their way to a decisive victory over the Big Reds. Thus, upon the remnants of the glorious 1926 championship brigade was planted the second defeat in as many meets. Miami men took first in the mile run, shot put, high hurdles and the 220-yard dash.

Coach Rider's cohorts' most gratifying performance of the season was their work against Georgetown at Oxford the following Saturday. As hosts to the Southwestern Ohio High School Track Meet the Big Reds annexed twelve firsts to four for the Kentucky boys. The slow track and strong wind permitted only ordinary time and distances.

Miami finished behind Wesleyan, Denison and Cincinnati in the B. A. A. meet held at Denison, May 20 and 21. Wesleyan continued to show marked superiority and ran up 70 points as compared with 49½ for Denison, 45½ for Cincinnati, 41 for Miami, 17½ for Ohio and 1 for Wittenberg. Records galore were broken.

Wright wins the two-twenty, Lutton places third

The track season came to a close with the running of the Annual Big Six in Cincinnati. Miami finished fifth in a field of twenty Ohio Conference colleges. Wesleyan continued her good work and won first with 41½ points, Denison and Wooster tied for second with 39 points each, Cincinnati placed fourth with 24 points—2 points ahead of Miami.

Miami failed to gain a first place in any of the events. Riddle scored six points by placing third in both hurdles; Captain Emery, stricken ill in the final lap of the mile, finished second, Thatcher added three points with fourth and a fifth in the hurdles. Reebel tied for fourth in the pole vault as Coleman did in the shot put. Wright ran fourth in the 220 yard dash and Weber fourth in the two mile. In the high jump Wagner tied for third.

Track Summary

AT the close of the 1927 track season varsity letters were awarded to Manager Gross and nineteen men who had earned a minimum of ten points throughout the season. Captain Emery, Weber, and Landis won letters in the mile and two mile runs, Schroder, Lampson, Coy, Rickert, and Almendinger in quarter and relay, Wright and Umbenhauer in the dashes, Reeble and Darling in the vault, Wagner and Baker in the high jump, Riddle and Thatcher in the hurdles, and Smith and Coleman in the shot put.

On this team Captain "Red" Emery was the outstanding and most consistent performer. He has established the Miami record in the mile and two mile events and holds the Ohio Conference two mile record at 9 minutes 51.4 seconds. Reeble is joint holder of the pole vault record, which is 11 feet 8.5 inches. Wagner is joint holder of the high jump record at 5 feet 9.5 inches. Riddle set a new low hurdle record when he ran the 220's in 24.7 seconds. Coy and Lampson with Sharkey and Weil of the year before set the relay record of 3 minutes and 26.8 seconds.

The fact that Emery, Wright, Reeble, Smith, Wagner, Darling, Riddle, Landis, Lampson, and Coy are lost by graduation will undoubtedly cut a figure in the 1928 prospects. These men have been greatly responsible for the high position attained by Miami track teams during the three seasons they participated for the Big Reds.

BASEBALL

Varsity Baseball

FOR the second time in as many years the Miami University baseball team won the B. A. A. Championship. No small part of the honor goes to Coach Pittser, undoubtedly the most capable baseball mentor in Ohio colleges.

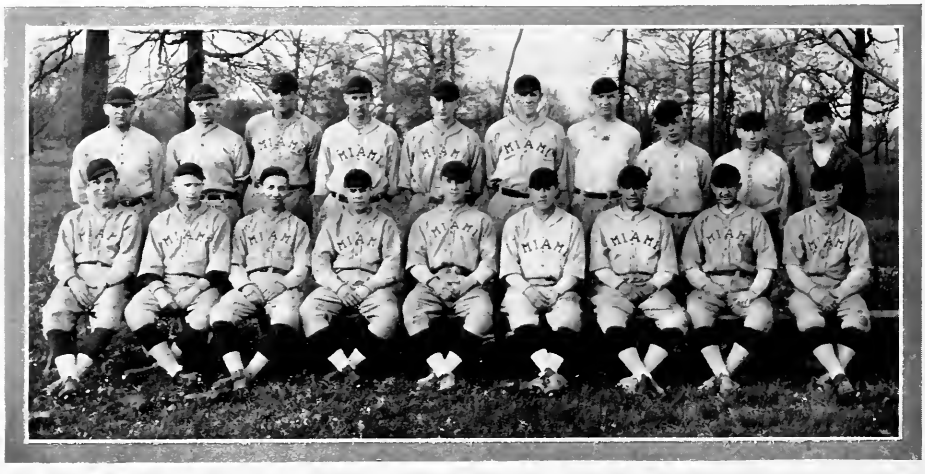
Seven veterans formed the nucleus for the team and a wealth of good Sophomore material was on hand at the outset of the season. Ellsesser, Lausche, Davis, and Isakle, formed the infield, while Ewbank, Welch, and Latscha composed the outfield.

Among the pitchers "Red" Miller was the outstanding luminary with Isakle, Kramer, Haight, Welch, and Kimmel as supporting moundsmen. According to the scouts Miller is one of the best tossers in this part of the country, and his work during the 1927 season justifies his rank as the best at Miami in years.

"Red" Wilson donned the wind-pad and was seconded by Ewbank in the catching department.

Some of the best games ever seen on the Varsity field were witnessed during the season. Regular league ball was shown at times.

The fact that five men, Captain Davis, Wilson, Wood, Lausche, and Kimmel are lost to the team may present a perplexing problem, but with an unfailing trust in Pittser, Miami may look forward to a continuation of her success on the diamond.



Frosh Baseball

BEGINNING the season with a group of hard-working, but comparatively inexperienced players, Coach Tillotson turned out a great Freshman diamond team in the course of a number of practice contests. Such rapid improvement was made during the season that several times in four or five innings the Frosh outscored the powerful varsity.

Among the Varsity team, the various fraternity teams, McGuffey High School, College Corner, and Hamilton High School the yearling team found plenty of competition. During the spring a total of ten games were played and in nine of these contests the Freshmen emerged victorious.

In Bass, Sparling, and O'Brien, Tillotson developed a capable group of chuckers. Behind the bat, Douglas and Gallant alternated at the job of snatching the fast ones. North and Bollenchino, two long and rangy lads, took turns at the first sack, while Mee and Williams shared honors at second. Crocket played shortstop and Brollier took care of the hot corner in fine style. In the outfield, Tillotson had Gorie, VanAusdale, and Hollinger, who were all clever at turning three-baggers into put-outs with skillful catches.

The Frosh hitters were led by Brollier, Crocket, Gorie, Douglas, and Mee, who kept their percentage well above .300.

Warming up for Wittenberg game

During the spring recess three non-Association diamond squads crossed bats with the Big Reds. Ohio State, fresh from a trip to the southern states, defeated Miami 5-0, April 4, at Columbus. Two days later Pittser's men beat Muncie (Indiana) Normal 6-1. University of Dayton, the following day, won over the Red and White 4-2.

Opening the B. A. A. schedule against Ohio University on Varsity field April 16, the Pittserites trounced the Bobcats 13-3. This game gave the fans the first glimpse of the hitting power of the embryo champs.

The following week-end the Big Red horsehide clouters journeyed north to win a 3-1 verdict over Denison on Friday, and a 9-7 triumph over Ohio Wesleyan. It was heads-up playing that gave Pittser's men victory in both games.

Ewbank Latscha Miller Ellsesser

Isakle safe at first, Cincy game

It was a determined ball team that met the Wittenberg invasion on May 4, and sent the Lutherans home smothered under a 10-1 count. At Springfield the next Wednesday the Big Reds turned the trick again and won a batting fray 12-7. Welch and Ewbank thrilled the crowd by crashing out a home run apiece,

Denison next attempted to down the Miamians on their home diamond but for the third consecutive time the Big Reds defeated a Denison nine by a one-run margin, this time 5-4. It was the sixth straight B. A. A. win and left Coach Pittser's nine strongly entrenched in first place.

Continuing the chase for the Buckeye bunting, the Big Reds defeated Cincy 5-0 in Nippert Stadium on May 16. Miller's stellar pitching and Latscha's home run were the features of the game. At Athens on May 23, Miami won over Ohio U. 4-2. The game was uncomfortably close throughout.

Lausche Davis Isakle

Latscha out at first in Cincy game

Only one more B. A. A. game remained on the Big Red schedule—the Decoration Day classic with the Cincy Bearcats. By a victory 5-2 over the visitors the Red and White nine decorated themselves with the B. A. A. championship for the second consecutive year.

In two non-Association games against Marietta at the end of the season, Miami lost the first 3-2, and won the second 4-3.

For the nine Buckeye Association games Welch led the hitters with an average of .412, Ewbank was second with an average of .343 and Elsesser third with .314. Elsesser scored 12 runs, Ewbank 10 and Latscha 9. Letters were awarded to Captain Davis, Wilson, Kramer, Miller, Elsesser, Latscha, Lausche, Ewbank, Welch, Isakle and Manager Ankeney.

MINOR AND INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Cross Country

A TRAGIC event in the form of an automobile accident in Granville the morning before the annual Ohio Conference Cross Country Meet marred what might have been the most successful season encountered by the Big Red harriers in years. Five members of the team and Professor Dunn, who was in charge of the squad, were injured when a taxi in which they were planning to tour the Denison course was struck by another auto.

Goacher, a Sophomore luminary, suffered a compound fracture of the left thigh and Dunn had several tendons in his left wrist severed. Other members of the squad received numerous cuts and bruises.

That the season might have been very successful is shown by the records made in the only two meets run off. In the initial grind against Ohio Wesleyan, between halves of the Miami-Wesleyan football game, Coach Rider's runners won 30 to 25. Goacher led the pack while five other men finished, Weber, fourth, Hollinger, fifth, Dutton, sixth, Wilmot, eighth, and Pumphrey, tenth.

To cinch for themselves a second championship in as many years the Miami harriers won the B. A. A. meet here, on October 19th, over O. W. U. and Cincy. Captain Weber led the field to the tape followed a little later by Goacher and Hollinger, who took third and fifth places respectively.

Weber, Dutton, Goacher, Pumphrey, Hollinger, and Wilmot were awarded major letters at the annual "M" banquet. Gold track shoes were later presented to these men.

Weber and Pumphrey were the only men lost by graduation.

Miss Margaret E. Phillips

Women's Coaches

Miami has a Woman's Physical Education Department of the highest quality. It is fortunate in having three full time instructors with superior training and ability. Due to their efforts Miami has been able to maintain high standards of accomplishments and sportsmanship in women's athletics.

The school year is divided into three athletic seasons. Hockey, archery, volley-ball, and soccer are the fall sports. Basketball and apparatus feature the winter season. The spring games are baseball, archery, tennis, and track.

Miss Margaret Phillips, Director of Physical Education for Women, graduated from Vassar College in 1919. She received her certificate of Hygiene and Physical Education from Wellesley College in 1921. Since that time she has acted as physical director at Miami.

Miss Margaret Shaw is a graduate of the University of Colorado of the year 1923. She received her certificate from Wellesley two years later and has been an instructor in physical education at Miami since 1925.

Elizabeth Nitchie Cole received her diploma from Central School of Physical Education, New York City, 1924. She has been a member of the Miami Physical Education Staff since 1925.

Women's Athletic Association

M. Engle, Pres.

The purpose of the Women's Athletic Association is to promote the interest in all sports and physical efficiency, scholarship, and good fellowship. All women students of the University are eligible to membership when they have earned three hundred points according to the point system of the Association.

Points may be won by participating in the various seasonal sports, the indoor meet, extra class work, hiking, and observation of health rules.

The local organization is affiliated with the national W. A. A. and members are entitled to wear the insignia, a bar pin with the letters W. A. A.

Not only does the organization sponsor all athletic activities but it also provides equipment and raises funds for their maintenance. Awards are given to those individuals who have won honors in athletics and to the classes who have ranked the highest in accomplishment and good sportsmanship

The Women's Athletic Board, which has charge of the rules and regulations, keeping the points, and management of athletic meets, is made up of the officers of the association, class managers, and representatives from each class, both of the Teacher's College and Liberal Arts.

STUDENT AFFAIRS

Student Senate

STUDENT SENATE is the administrative body of the student government. It has many duties, the most important of which is the rendering of decisions that arise in connection with the violation of the Honor System. Pep meetings at Friday morning chapel hour and on the eve of football games are arranged by the senate.

In addition to this, the handling of arrangements for Homecoming, supervising the decoration of fraternity houses, dormitories, and the campus in general, and arranging the program for between halves of the game, constitute part of the work done in the fall.

In general, Student Senate is responsible for carrying on the traditions of Miami, and at the same time performing numerous tasks that must be done for the best of the students and the university.

Cases of differences arising between the administration and the student body are diplomatically handled by the Senate; the same is true of new problems arising on the campus.

The membership is so arranged that the majority are Juniors and Seniors, thus placing the responsibility on students who have had more experience in campus activities and campus problems.

Part of the personnel of this body is elected by the students; the rest serve by virtue of certain positions which they hold. Three Senior, two Junior, and one Sophomore representatives are elected by their respective classes. The president is elected by the student body from the three Senior representatives. The Junior representative receiving the highest number of votes automatically becomes the vice-president. The secretary and treasurer are elected by the Senate from its body at the initial meeting of the year.

The personnel for the year 1927-28 was: Lynne Baker, Fred Kramer, and Norman Welker, Senior representatives; Robert Norris and Robert Roose, Junior representatives; John Pfeiffer, Sophomore representative; Blanche Denius, president of Sophomore T. C. Class; Louise Worch, president of Freshman T. C. Class; Mildred Engle, president of Women's Athletic Association; Ruth Neville, president of Y. W. C. A.; David Ott, president of Y. M. C. A.; Richard Young, editor of STUDENT; Homer Calihan, chairman of Ogden Hall; Kathleen Outcalt, president of Women's Student Council; Julia Glover, house chairman of Bishop Hall; Kathryn Long, house chairman of Hepburn Hall; Catherine Yoder, house chairman of Wells Hall; George Bowers, president of Senior Class; Dwight Franz, president of Junior Class; Robert Goacher, president of Sophomore Class; Lawrence Blankenship, president of Freshman Class.

Forum of Representatives

THE Forum of Representatives composed of twenty Seniors, fifteen Juniors, and five Sophomores, acts as an advisory council to the Student Senate. Joint meetings of both are held once a month, at which any problems of general campus interest are discussed. When such matters as changing the constitution of the student government, the limiting of destructive practices or traditions, or the adopting of new policies are to be discussed, it is through this body that the action is taken.

The president of the Student Senate is also the president of the Forum of Representatives. The representatives of this body for the year 1927-28 were: Edith Dietz, Dorothy Gilham, Alice Pound, John George, Mildred Engle, Roy Witherby, Marian Craft, Julia Glover, Edward Isakle, Wilbur Coulton, Harriet Beaton, Theodore Ballard, Robert Oswald, Thomas Lohrey, Harold Sielaff, William Klopp, Currie Stoup, Jeanette White, John Reed, St. Clair Switzer, and Clifford Cook, Seniors; Carlisle Shafer, Sam Morrison, Lee Dutton, Helen Todd, Ruth Dieckman, Jack Greer, Evangeline Dine, Virginia Spiller, Genevieve White, and Edna Coy, Juniors; Albert Dietz, Geraldine Jones, Carolyn Clark, Adelaide Graham, and Robert Edmonds, Sophomores.

Women's Student Council

WOMEN'S STUDENT GOVERNMENT is an institution which has been in effect on the Miami campus since 1914. Through this organization the women of Miami endeavor to establish and maintain desirable standards of University life.

The Council is composed of a representative group of all interests and classes in the college. The Council president, Kathleen Outcault; the secretary, Martha Hood; and the treasurer, Mildred Burkhardt were elected last Spring by all Miami girls at which time the various house chairmen were elected.

Kathryn Long was elected chairman of Hepburn Hall, Julia Glover of Bishop Hall, Catherine Yoder of Wells, Faye Cochran of East, and Sibyl Evans as chairman of West Hall.

University Marshals

AT every entertainment at Benton Hall, or at any official University function, one will see seven men of the Junior class immaculately attired in tuxedos, carrying themselves with a seeming air of officiality. These are the University Marshals.

In 1904 Miami incorporated the idea of Chicago University of having University Marshals to officiate at all the public exercises of the University. At that time and until recent years a Junior of each fraternity and one from the independent group were selected by the faculty to be the Marshals. However, with the growth of the college and the increase of the number of fraternities, the faculty has thought it advisable to pick seven Juniors on the basis of interest and ability to act in that capacity.

The head marshal for the past year was George Peffer; he was ably assisted by James Ferguson, Jack Greer, Raymond Novatney, Austin Sprague, Lloyd Douglas, and Carlisle Shafer.

Varsity Social Club

THE Varsity Social Club was established to foster a better social life on the campus. In the old days, before dancing became such a popular social activity, this was quite a job. It is now much easier to plan entertainments for the whole campus, since a good dance is always popular. When one hears the remark "there's a varsity tonight," he knows that it will be a good dance, for a very reasonable price.

The club is so organized that only an experienced leader can be in charge, as the vice-president, a Junior, always becomes president the following year.

Since the club exists for the benefit of the campus, it never runs in competition with social functions of other organizations. As a result of this policy, the number of dances given by the club is decreasing, as the social life of the campus becomes more complex, and various organizations become socially independent.

Top Row: Feigert, Justin, Edwards, Olmutz

Senior Ball

THE last big social function of the year, the Senior Ball, came on the evening of the last day of classes. This is a fitting time for the last social function of the class. Unlike the other class dances, this dance was for the seniors only. This was their dance, their night.

The gym took on a gay attire. There, to the enchanting strains of the orchestra, the clever performances of entertainers, the seniors danced away the last night of their undergraduate days.

Praise for the success of the Ball goes to Curry Stoup and his committee. Decorations were headed by Wilbur Coulton, Florence Sauer, Ruth Neville and Gerald Gross. To Lynne Baker and Helen Brunton went the responsibility of engaging the orchestra and entertainers. Richard Young saw that it lacked nothing in the way of publicity. Mildred Schiller and St. Clair Switzer had charge of the refreshments, Ross Mooney and Eleanor Pearson the chaperons, and H. Clay Flynn and Edith Dietz of the tickets.

Junior Prom

EXAMS were over, the first semester ended. Then came the biggest social event of the year, the Junior Prom. Huge painted scenes, illuminated with soft colored lights, Japanese lanterns, and cherry blossoms transformed Herron Gym into a beautiful Japanese valley; with the dawning sun breaking over a lake, mystic temples, water gardens, beautiful cherry trees, with a mountain in the distance, an artistic blending of gold, orange, red, green, and blues.

It seemed that "Dottie" Miller must have been born to wear a crown, so stately, so charming was she as she led the grand march.

From the grand march to the last note of "Good Night" Ray Miller and his famous Florentine Room orchestra did honor to the occasion.

The Prom was a great success; much praise is due to McNamara and his assistants: Jones, Ellerman, Adams, Peffer, Greer, Glick, Fuller, H. Callihan, Annis, Edwards, Downey, Graesar, Justin, Throwbridge, Schmidt, Evans, Heistand, Thornhill, Todd, Withgott, Parker, O'Dea, Cochran, and Schweitzer.

Sophomore Hop

THE annual Sophomore Hop was given in honor of the football squad and proved to be one of the most successful social functions of the school year. Art Payne and his band of recording and broadcasting artists furnished delightfully entertaining music for the occasion.

The interior of the Gym was transformed into an attractive dance floor. The contrasting colors of black and white were arranged in checkerboard and futuristic designs. The low striped ceiling came to the center where a large dome of black and white checkerboard gave a dazzling effect to the hall. The side walls were solid white and from the center dome hung two large indirect lights.

Harry Stryker was elected King of the Hop. The dance opened with the grand march and coronation of the King. Programs of black and white were given as favors for the evening. The stunning decorating scheme, the mellow lights together with the sweet and peppy music added a rare atmosphere to the hall. Three hundred couples glided lightly over the floor. They frolicked until tired and fatigued yet each left with an utterance of praise to Chairman Eldon Demaline and his cohorts: Merkel, Taylor, Batchelder, Albaugh, Bobenmeyer, Reed, Brown, Mede, Granger, Wiggerman, Hunter, Johnson, Hertenstein, Pearce, Wood, Nasser, Gale, Kain, Finkbine, Govan, Spreen, Edmunds, and Martin.

PUBLICATIONS

Miami Student

This is the second year that the Miami Student has been published as a semi-weekly newspaper, and its growth in scope and circulation reflects the progress of the University.

Changing the date of publication from Wednesday and Saturday to Tuesday and Friday was one of the many changes made to bring the news to the readers while fresh and timely. Advertisers, too, have shown their approval of this change by the use of more space in advertising.

Closer contacts have been maintained with the faculty and the administration. As a member of the Ohio College Newspaper Association the Student receives weekly news bulletins which contain many items of interest from other colleges and universities. All members of the staff have cooperated in the gathering of news from all sources available to the Student.

Since the appearance of the first periodical by Miami students in 1826, all publications have, by the changes, marked the development of the University.

Recensio

To the Junior class is given the honor of publishing the year book. This is an honor of which they are justly proud, and each staff attempts to produce a book which will surpass that of their predecessors. A staff strives to do more than to make a simple pictorial and typographical record; it would produce a book that has individuality, which is artistic and beautiful.

When a staff starts to work it finds that college life is very complex. There is much that we would remember, not just athletic contests, dances, parties, and good times, but friends, classmates, professors, vine-covered buildings, stately trees, and shady paths. A year book to be successful must include all of these. With this in mind the 1928 staff has attempted to produce a book which will mirror life, as it is, life as we know it, so that others viewing the reflection will see here real people, not a group on a four year vacation but rather a group working together, playing together, developing characteristics which will later be useful.

There is, however, quite a step from a vague idea to a finished book, a step which called for cooperation of the editorial, arts, and business staffs. The work was too much for these staffs alone. Their work was greatly facilitated by the able assistance of contributors from the Sophomore and Senior classes, and much credit is due them for the success of the book.

The personnel of the editorial staff was: Sibyl Evans, Associate Editor; Faye Cochran, Art Editor; Eleanor Handschin, Wilbur Coulton, Minerva Clephane, Reynold Wurnelle, Robert Coulton, and Robert Warren, Assistants; Paul McNamara, Athletic Editor; Robert Bourne, Editor of Class Section; Mildred King, Faculty Editor; Dorothy Augustine, Supervisor of Mounting; Martha Hood, Copy Editor; Nancy Grimes, Women's Athletics Editor; Robert Weil, Photograph Editor; Franklin Dunn, Assistant; Sophomore Contributors: William Hunter, Albert Dietz, Mary K. Miampus

Miami's literary-humorous magazine, the Miampus, made its first appearance in February, the fruit of plans which were begun soon after the opening of school in the fall. Two more issues followed, in the months of April and May, in keeping with the policy of publishing the Miampus six times yearly, thrice each semester.

Quoting from the editorial in the magazine's first number, relative to its aim, we find "Its prime purpose will be to print the best writing and art that is being produced in Miami University.

That the magazine has achieved a large degree of success is indicated by the favor which it has won among the administration, faculty, and student body.

A small group of eight students, the original petitioners, constituted the Miampus board for the first number. Additions to the board soon afterward increased the number to twenty-five. Membership on the three separate staffs, editorial, art, and business, is based on the quality and quantity of preliminary work executed by the tryout. Graduation will not take so heavy a toll on the board, but seven members laying down the pen and brush for the cap and gown. These are the editor and two each on the editorial, art, and business staffs.

DEBATE

Men's Debate

INTEREST in Men's Debate has been increasing steadily during the last several years and this year reached the point where two teams represented each side of the question. "Resolved: That the United States government should cease to protect American private investments in foreign countries" was the question chosen early in the season at a meeting of debate coaches from several of the Ohio Colleges.

Miami teams engaged in three dual and one triangular debates during the season besides an unofficial discussion of the question early in the season with a team from Albion College. The actual debating year started off when the Miami affirmative traveled to Greencastle to meet the strong DePauw negative while the Miami negative went into Indiana to debate the Butler College representatives.

Then followed a non-decision dual debate with Wittenberg, Wittenberg's affirmative meeting Miami at Oxford College with the Miami affirmative at Springfield.

In the third debate, against Denison, the Oregon Plan of speaking was used in both places, Miami's negative remaining at home. This type of debate calls for fast thinking and extemporaneous speaking on the part of the participants.

The season was finished up right when both Miami's teams vanquished the Cincinnati representatives in one of the most hotly contested meets of the season.

Women's Debate

THREE years ago Miami had her first women's debate team. In these three short years these teams have met with remarkable success. Last year the negative team came through the entire season without loosing a single decision. The affirmative team with an almost perfect record lost but one.

The season this year opened with a triangular debate, in which the Miami negative met Butler at Indianapolis, and the affirmative met DePauw at Connersville. Both teams were victorious. The debates with Wittenberg were as usual non-decision debates. Denison was forced to bow to Miami both at Granville and at Oxford. The affirmative met Albion in a single debate, and suffered the only defeat of the season. The Miami negative team met and vanquished the Cincinnati team at Cincinnati. Because of a misunderstanding the debate between the Miami affirmative and the Cincinnati negative was not held. To the Miami negative goes the honor of having passed through two seasons without having suffered a defeat.

The affirmative team for this year was composed of Florence Sauer, Sarah Buchanan, Helen Bourne, Martha Alberts, Margaret Niestrath. The negative was upheld by Marjorie Leffler, Martha Baker, Celia Long, and Sue Anspach.

English Debate

ON the second of December, Miami University participated in an international debate for the second time in its forensic history, when a team from Great Britain which made an extended tour in the United States last fall, representing the British National Union of Students, met a team of Miami debaters in Benton Auditorium.

The contest was sponsored by the local chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary forensic fraternity. "Resolved: That this House deplores the influence of the democratic principle," was the subject used in the debate, the Englishmen supporting the affirmative, while the Miami debaters defended democracy by upholding the negative. With ready wit and clever repartee the English speakers introduced a style of debating entirely new to a Miami audience; and the Miami men skillfully met the verbal attacks of their more experienced opponents.

John Blackburn, George Anderson and Albert Dietz, with Victor Coles as alternate, represented Miami in the contest, while the British team was composed of Frank Darvall of the University of Reading, Andrew Haddon of the University of Edinburgh, and John Ramage of the London School of Economics and Political Science.

MUSIC

University Band

THE Miami Band made a very creditable showing this year—in fact the best for several years. All types of instruments were well represented and ably directed by Mr. Bert Keller who succeeded in imbuing the members with a wonderful spirit in addition to their musical abilities.

There were always forty or fifty men under colors to enthuse the rooters and contribute to those numerous Big Red victories, both on the gridiron and court.

The Band accompanied the Big Red football team on two trips this year—to Dayton and Cincinnati. It gave every Miami student no little thrill when the red and white uniformed men lined up as in battle array against the opposing band during the halves of each game, and especially at Dayton and Cincinnati where our band was not in the least outshone by the home bands.

The personnel of the band is: Leader, Bert Keller; cornets, MacAllister, Thurn, Hinkle, Clark, Van Ausdale, Sweet, Smith, Byrkett, Amos, Johnson, Henshaw, Siler; Baritone, Mattala, Justin, Riffle; saxophone, Hoppe, Walters, Kulman, Brandon, Atherton; clarinets, Cox, Lawrence, Speers, Condo, Flook, Peck, Gaskill, Sigrist; basses, Bush, Domm; drums, Morrison, Tish, Bateman, Robson; trombones, Wilson, Amos, J., Harman, Gowdy.

University Orchestra

THE University Orchestra is one of the oldest musical organizations at Miami. It affords an opportunity for advanced performers to participate in orchestral work. A high standard of excellence is maintained in the study of modern and classic compositions. Membership is attained through individual try-outs. Semi-weekly rehearsals are held throughout the year.

The crowning achievement for the past year was the annual concert held at Benton Hall, March second, with Mr. Donald Kisane as conductor. A varied program was presented, including the works of Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Bainbridge-Crist, and Ponchulli. In addition to this the orchestra gave performances in several neighboring towns. The orchestra sponsors the string quartet, composed this year of Virginia Lafferty, Maxine Grindle, Sibyl Evans, and Harriet Brate.

The personnel of the orchestra this year is: Violins, Virginia Lafferty, concert mistress; Maxine Grindle, William Poland, Ruth Boydston, Madge Shaper, Virginia Van der Hoff, Anita Strauch, Billie Fee, Gertrude Hocker, Melva Brown, James Ferguson, Louise McIlvaine, Marion Roth, Marjorie Bond, Dorothy Miller, Lucinda Hadsel, and William Hodges; viola, Isabel Williams, Sibyl Evans; cello, Harriet Brate; bass viol, Ruth Suter; tuba, Robert Damm; clarinet, Carl Spreen, Eleanore Stier; oboe, Professor James St. John; trumpet, Louise Carrol, Arletta Carr; trombone, Clarine Wickerham; horn, Mildred Minnich; kettle drums, Professor E. K. Foster; piano, Galen Glasgow.

Men's Glee Club

THE year 1927 and 28 was one of the most successful ever experienced by the Men's Chorus. Their first venture was the Christmas vacation trip which included Dayton, Marion, and Cleveland. Following this came a number of week-end concerts in Dayton and Richmond, and the home concert January sixth. They finished their season, in Oxford, on April thirteenth with a popular concert and vaudeville show.

By far the most important thing the club is to undertake, however, is the European trip this summer. This tour is sponsored by the Arts Crafts Guild. The club, students, and alumni who are to make up the party will sail for England on June twenty-seventh and spend thirty-five days abroad, visiting England, Belgium, France, and Germany.

The trip has been made to include all alumni of Miami who care to go. Lynne Baker, student manager of the trip, has been busy for the past two months making the final arrangements for the tour.

This trip will not only be an enjoyable one for the members of the party, but will also be quite an advertisement for Miami.

Madrigal Club

THE Madrigal Club which was organized in September, 1908, has for its purpose the study and public performance of part songs, choruses, and cantatas written for women's voices. The first director was Professor R. H. Burke who wrote the Miami March Song. He was followed by Miss Sarah Norris who led the club in 1916-17. Professor A. W. Martin succeeded her and the club is at present under his capable directorship.

Membership in the organization is obtained by individual tryouts. During the past year seventy-five girls were members of the club. Each year the club presents a public recital. This year such numbers as, "Song of the Rhine-Nymphs" (from "Dusk of the Gods"), "Lullaby," arranged by Ferrari, and the cantata, "The Chambered Nautilus," by Mrs. H. H. E. Beach, appeared on the program.

One of the most important events of the year is the Ohio Intercollegiate Contest. This year Girl's Glee Clubs from the University of Cincinnati, Ohio University, Bluffton College, and Ohio Wesleyan were the guests of Miami for this contest held on March 16.

Although the girls did not carry off first honors in the Ohio Intercollegiate Contest, they were highly complimented on their work by Mr. Moore, Director of University School of Music at Ann Arbor, Michigan, and adjudicator of the contest.

Vesper Chorus

THE Vesper Chorus made its first appearance on the campus this year. This mixed chorus is composed of the members of the Men's Glee Club and Madrigal Club. Under the able supervision of Mr. A. W. Martin this chorus has furnished some fine music for the Sunday Vespers Services.

Although the entire chorus only sings on special occasions yet some part of it, either the Glee Club, Madrigal Club, male or mixed quartettes, have appeared frequently.

One of the most successful programs of the year was given on December 11. At this time the entire chorus presented the Cantata, "Childe Jesus," by Joseph Clokey, formerly of Miami, and Hazel Jean Kirk, of Oxford.

The excellent music given by the chorus as a whole, or in part, did much to make the Vesper Services successful.

RELIGION

Y. M. C. A.

THE Young Men's Christian Association represents a movement among Miami men for the promotion of spiritual interests on the campus. The aims of the association specifically are, to lead students to faith in God and membership and service in the Christian Church, to promote a positive moral and religious college spirit, and to challenge students to devote themselves to the building of a better society according to Christian ideals. These purposes are promoted through the means of various activities of a religious, social, and service nature.

Religious activities include discussion groups on moral and religious themes. Interesting groups have been promoted this year in which such themes as, "The Contributions of Religion to Science," "The Culture of Greatness," and "Moral Problems of Modern Youth" were discussed under the leadership of faculty members. Religious leaders of note are frequently brought to the campus for addresses and conferences. Deputation teams are sent to serve churches in neighboring communities. Students are encouraged and given financial aid to attend important student religious conferences and conventions.

Social activities include "mixers" for new students at the beginning of the college year, a reception for foreign students, an occasional inexpensive dancing party, the annual "M" banquet, and various small parties and dinners.

Under service activities there should be mentioned the employment bureau, a recreation center, a book exchange, the editing and management of the "M" book, and the sponsoring of a Hi-Y organization for high school boys of Oxford.

Y. W. C. A.

THE Young Women's Christian Association is an organization which gives women an opportunity to express themselves in the promotion of Christian attitudes and principles. In the development of the program on this campus, four types of expression have evolved: service, social life, development of appreciation, and worship.

Service includes such work as assisting with Freshman Week, Big Sister work, employment bureau, and provision of a reading room and girl's club in Oxford.

The social life was made more interesting for the girls because of mixers, teas, parties, and a Leap Year Dance planned by the Social Committee of the Y. W. C. A. An International Tea and Dinner Party as well as a demonstration of foreign art and music on Cosmopolitan Night helped to establish international friendships and appreciations and served to welcome foreign students to our campus.

Through discussion groups, freshman commission, Bible study classes, aiding girls to attend conferences, and bringing outstanding leaders and speakers to our campus, many students broadened their attitudes and understandings of all people, developed inter-racial and international appreciations, and were stimulated to finding their responsibilities in life.

Freshman Commission

FRESHMAN COMMISSION is an organization of the Y. W. C. A. for Freshman women. It holds an important place, for through this organization girls are given the opportunity to become acquainted with and to work in the Y. W. C. A. at the beginning of their college year.

The group is organized on a voluntary plan. There are about one hundred and twenty-five girls in this organization. The commission is divided into about eight individual groups with a sophomore leader as an advisor. Each group has its own officers and plans its own meetings and discussions.

The Freshman Commission does two distinct types of work. First, their own group meetings for which the girls themselves choose the speakers, plan discussions, and plan their own social events. Second, the service they give to the Y. W. C. A., aiding the ways and means department in selling eskimo pies at the basketball games, dressing dolls to send to Hiram House in Cleveland to be distributed to poor children at Christmas, making money to send their own representative to Lake Geneva, and helping with the Christmas sale of the Y. W. C. A.

The controlling body of the organization is a Freshman cabinet which is composed of the president from each group, another elected member, and the sophomore leader. This group investigates the campus problems, and serves as a connecting link between the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and the Freshman Commission.

Big Sisters

THE Big Sisters organization is a group of about a hundred and thirty upper-class girls whose purpose is to advise Freshman girls, to help them get adjusted, and to make them feel at home at Miami. The important, and most effective work of the association is not done as a group, but is done by the individual members. Each member adopts two or three girls in the Freshman class whom she helps in any way that she can during the year.

In the spring the Big Sisters for the following year are chosen. During the summer they correspond with their little sisters, welcoming them before the college opens and answering any questions, or helping in any way that they can. Then when school opens they help them to get started in their class work, to make friends and to get settled in their new environment.

To help the new girls to know the members of the faculty, Big Sisters arrange to work in groups of three or four with a "Faculty Mother" as advisor and helper. It is at her home that the girls are entertained and made welcome.

Kappa Phi

KAPPA PHI is a national organization founded at Kansas University in 1916. The Lambda Chapter was established at Miami University in 1921. Kappa Phi not only places emphasis upon social activities of the campus, but endeavors more especially to maintain more active interest in the varied program of the church. The chief purpose of the society is to provide in the college woman's way religious training and a wholesome social life, that they may be stronger, more efficient women of the church of tomorrow.

Social programs and meetings are held every two weeks. At other times varied programs are carried on. In the fall hikes and parties are held for new girls. At different times during the year dramatic programs are given. Sunday afternoon teas are frequently held at the homes of the patronesses. The biggest event of the year is the formal initiation banquet held in the early part of the second semester.

Officers for the year of 1927-28 are Lottie Horn, president; Lenore Bilter, vice-president; Elizabeth Crecraft, sceretary; Margaret Gibson, recording secretary; Gertrude Smith, treasurer; Ruth Corpron, chaplain.

HONORARY ORGANIZATIONS

Phi Beta Kappa

THE MIAMI CHAPTER of Phi Beta Kappa (Iota of Ohio) was established in 1911. According to the constitution, the object of the national society is "the promotion of scholarship and friendship among students and graduates of American colleges." The first chapter was founded at William and Mary College in 1776. Soon afterward Yale and Harvard joined in the movement. On the roll of Phi Beta Kappa are to be found the names of many of America's most famous men.

Just at present the society is entering upon a new era. Approximately four hundred thousand dollars has been contributed to an endowment fund, and a memorial building has been erected at William and Mary College. The endowment fund is being used to encourage scholarship in secondary schools and colleges.

Membership in the local chapter is conferred upon the best students of the Senior and Junior classes. Next year will see the inauguration of a Phi Beta Kappa Junior Scholarship to which the student who has made the most promising record during his first two years will be appointed. This year twelve Seniors and six Juniors were elected to membership.

Officers of the local chapter are: Clarence Kreger, president; Edgar King, recording secretary; Merrell Clubb, corresponding secretary; Harvey Brill, treasurer.

Kappa Delta Pi

THE purpose of this National Educational Fraternity, founded at the University of Illinois in 1909, is to encourage high professional and scholarship standards and to recognize outstanding service in the field of education. At present there are fifty chapters in the organization, widely distributed throughout the country. Ohio chapters, in order of their institution, are those at the University of Cincinnati, Miami University, Ohio University, Ohio Wesleyan, and Heidelberg College.

Nu Chapter was installed at Miami University, April 29, 1922, by Zeta chapter of the University of Cincinnati, under the direction of Dr. A. L. Hall-Quest. The first chapter-counsellor was Dr. B. M. Davis, under whose wise guidance and leadership the organization made a worthy place for itself in the affairs of the institution.

The officers of the local chapter for the present college year are: president, Joyce Hedrick; secretary-treasurer, Helen E. Page. Meetings, business, educational and social, are held each year.

A fraternity publication, "The Kadelpian Review," keeps the members informed of the activities of the various chapters. The growth of the national organization has been phenomenal, and gives great promise of the future strength and usefulness of the fraternity.

Kappa Phi Kappa

KAPPA PHI KAPPA, a Professional Edueational Fraternity, was founded at Dartmouth College in 1922. The purpose of the organization is to promote the cause of education by encouraging men of sound moral character, and recognized ability to engage in the study of its principles and problems. For the furtherance of the above purpose, the fraternity emphasizes among its members social intercourse, scholarly attainment, and professional ideals.

Xi Chapter of the Fraternity was established at Miami in February of 1925. With the aid of the Department of Education and other departments of the school, the organization has been able to quietly carry on a program which has been helpful to its members and to those who have been guests at various times. All have been given an opportunity and encourged to give as well as receive ideas. Faculty members who have had charge of some of the monthly discussion meetings held during this school year are: Dr. C. V. Good, of the Department of Education; Professor F. C. Whitcomb, of the Department of Industrial Arts; and Professor J. V. McMillan, of the Department of Education.

Delta Sigma Pi

DELTA SIGMA PI is an international commerce fraternity, founded at New York University, November 7, 1907. This, the Alpha Upsilon Chapter, was established at Miami on April 16, 1927. The purpose of the fraternity is to foster the study of business in universities, to encourage scholarship and the association of students for their mutual advancement by research and practice; to promote closer affiliation between the commercial world and students of commerce and to further a higher standard of commercial ethics and culture and the civic and commercial welfare of the community.

The membership is limited to upperclassmen in the School of Business who rank in the upper half of the class. Luncheons are held on the first and third Tuesdays of each month, at which time the business meetings are held.

The Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship Key is awarded each year to the most outstanding Senior in the School of Business, the selection being made by the faculty.

Officers of the Local Chapter are: Rollin Niswonger, president; Gerald Shaw, secretary; and Clarence Cox, treasurer.

Eta Sigma Phi

ETA SIGMA PHI is a national classical fraternity which was first organized in 1924, and now has a chapter roll of twenty-seven. It came into existence as the Undergraduate Classical Club of the University of Chicago, and with the installation of its Beta Chapter at Northwestern University, became a national fraternity.

The Miami, or Sigma, Chapter was installed in May 1927, and now exists as the honorary organization of the Greek and Latin departments.

Eta Sigma Phi fosters an increasing interest in the study of the classics, and the formation of clubs for this purpose. Many chapters have assumed the responsibility of organizing Latin Clubs in nearby high schools, while others advise and assist the Latin clubs on their own campus.

The official publication is a magazine called the NUNTIUS, which appears four times during the college year.

Eta Sigma Phi is a young fraternity, but with the enthusiastic aid of its national officers and collegiate members, it gives every promise of rapid progression.

Local officers for 1927-28 are Mary Kumler, president; Kathryn Spielman, vice-president; Mildred Grimes, secretary; Dwight Franz, treasurer; Mildred Tuley, sergeant of arms.

Phi Sigma

PHI SIGMA is a National Biological Honorary fraternity founded at Ohio State University in 1915. Its members are those Junior and Senior students and professors who show aptitude, interest, and special ability for research in biological sciences. Such members come from the fields of Botany, Zoology and Geology.

The society is not only interested in undergraduate research, but it is also a medium of expression for the immature biologist. The real spirit of science should permeate every biology department, and it is the spirit which is of chief concern to Phi Sigma. In this society the students come very close in contact with biological theories, principles and concrete materials as viewed by their professors and other men of science who are brought to our campus for regular meetings.

Besides out of town speakers, the programs consist of informal talks given by faculty and students on their particular work or some field in which they have done much reading.

The officers for the year 1927-1928 are: Victor Coles, president; Dan Morse, vice-president; Antoinette Press, secretary; Elsie Press, treasurer; Lottie Horn, editor.

Phi Gamma Phi

PHI GAMMA PHI, the honorary French fraternity of Miami University, was founded during the school year of 1922-23. It was first sponsored by Mr. Irvin and Dr. Brandon of the French Department. The object of the society is to afford a recognition to the student who has maintained a high standard of scholarship in the study of French. The organization endeavors to stimulate efforts in conversational French and to offer an opportunity for study of the life and institutions of France.

In past years it has been the custom of the Society to bring lecturers on French life to the campus. While it was impossible to secure such a speaker this year the members have had numerous and profitable meetings.

Mlle. Follias, the French student at Miami, contributed much interesting and colorful information about her native land. Mlle. Serrie, a French student at Western College, conducted a study of the works of Moliere. Various programs were presented by other members of the club and by the faculty of the French Department.

Twenty students were initiated into the society this year at the home of Dr. E. E. Brandon.

Officers are Eva Sacheroff, president; Carlisle Shafer, vice-president; and Erma Schmidt, secretary. Mr. Irvin and Mr. Smyser are faculty advisors.

Alpha Kappa Delta

OHIO ALPHA of Alpha Kappa Delta, national honorary sociological fraternity, was established at Miami University in 1925. The object of the society is to promote interest in sociology and social research through stimulating the activities of the various Chapters. Members are elected to the fraternity each year from the students possessing a creditable scholarship record and manifesting ability and permanent interest in the field of sociology. Most of the members of the Miami chapter are students majoring in sociology or doing honor work in that subject. Meetings are held each month, and at that time stimulating discussions are held on sociological problems. The discussions are led by student members, and a number of interesting papers have been presented.

Alpha Kappa Delta was founded at the University of Southern California in 1920. Its present roster numbers nineteen chapters, located in many of the principal colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Dr. Read Bain, who came to Miami this year from the University of Washington where he was a member of Alpha Kappa Delta, has taken an active interest in the society and has been responsible for its reorganization and activity.

Officers of the local chapter are: Eva Sacheroff, president; Alice Young, vice-president; Margaret Winn, secretary; Lloyd Douglas, treasurer.

Ye Merrie Players

YE MERRIE PLAYERS opened its work this year by sponsoring "The Dover Road," a comedy by A. A. Milne, which was presented on November the first, with a cast of community players. Next came the production of John Golden's musical fantasy, "The Clock Shop," and a one-act comedy melodrama, "The Man in the Bowler Hat," by A. A. Milne. The latter was the first play ever given at Miami with a cast composed entirely of Freshmen.

On February 15th and 16th, Channing Polloch's four-act war tragedy, "The Enemy," occupied the center interest as the annual mid-year play. With its presentation several new dramatic stars loomed into prominence and were accordingly initiated into the club on March 6.

It was through the efforts of Ye Merrie Players that Clayton Hamilton, nationally known dramatic critic, was brought to Miami on March 13 to speak on Oliver Goldsmith.

On April 14, "The Enemy" was presented at Earlham College, Richmond, Indiana. The performance was very successful.

During the spring the efforts of the club were directed to the performance of a group of one-act plays including "White Elephants," "The Twelve-Pound Look," and "Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil." Plans were also completed for the annual commencement play.

Officers of Ye Merrie Players were Charles Gibson, president; Doris Wetzel, secretary; Raymond Nasser, treasurer.

Tau Kappa Alpha

TAU KAPPA ALPHA, an Intercollegiate Honorary Oratorical and Debating Fraternity, was founded at Indianapolis, Indiana, 1908, and was established at Miami in 1909. The participation in intercollegiate debates and oratorical contests is the basis for admission into the society. Up until the year 1927 only men were eligible to membership, but with the introduction of women's debating three years ago, women became eligible for membership. The magazine of the organization is called "The Speaker" and is published four times a year.

The local chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha stimulates interest in debating and oratory. Tau Kappa Alpha tries to lead forensics into a renaissance of public appreciation of the art of speech. The organization interests others in entering forensics. The important place of forensics is seldom realized though this year has witnessed a revival due to the uniqueness of the English debate. The debate with the English Debating Team, representing the British National Union of Students, on the question—Resolved: That this House deplores the influence of the Democratic principle, was very entertaining because of the Englishmen's style of debating. The local chapter also entertains the visiting debating teams.

Officers for this year are: H. H. Higgins, president; J. B. Dennison, secretary-treasurer; Florence Sauer, historian.

Phi Mu Alpha

PHI MU ALPHA is a national music fraternity. It was founded at the New England Conservatory, Boston, Massachusetts, in 1898. It now consists of forty-four chapters in the leading conservatories, colleges and universities of America. Alpha Theta Chapter was established at Miami in 1923. It is an honorary organization rather than an honor society. Membership is open to those men who are actively interested in the advancement of music.

Weekly noon-day meetings are held at the Tallawanda Tea Room. Each year the members present a program of American music. They also conduct the annual inter-fraternity sing in which a cup is awarded to the winning fraternity. Last year this trophy was won by Sigma Chi.

The organization at present is engaged in preparing a collection of representative college songs.

Ten new members were admitted this year. They are John De Wert, Thomas Gerspacher, Hugh Henshaw, Paul Karns, James Miltenberger, Robert Peters, William Poland, Richard Truitt, Richard Turner, and Fred Williams.

The officers are: Joseph Justin, president; Robert Peters, vice-president; Harold Mohr, secretary; Richard Turner, treasurer; and E. E. Erickson, supreme councilman. Professor Aubrey W. Martin, of the Miami Music Department, is National Vice-President.

Delta Omicron

MU CHAPTER of Delta Omicron was installed at Miami University in the spring of 1923 as an honor sorority with eight charter members. The purposes of this organization are to create and foster fellowship, to develop character, to arouse and encourage the appreciation of good music and performance among musicians during their student days so that the highest degree of musicianship may be attained individually.

Membership is open to students taking the public school music course. In order to be eligible for membership one must maintain a B average. The sorority pin is a golden lyre with pearls, crossed by a scroll with the letters D and O upon the face in Greek.

Musicals are given monthly by the members. In May a twilight recital is given to which the student body is invited. The program is planned so that unusual and varied features of music may be brought to the attention of the student body.

As a national project Delta Omicron is building a studio in the MacDowell colony at Petersborough, New Hampshire, for the use and convenience of the creative artists admitted to resident membership.

Officers of the local chapter are: Harriet Brate, president; Grace Overman, vice-president; Elizabeth Patterson, secretary; Virginia Pearce, alumni secretary; Eulalia Shaw, treasurer.

Top Row: Schiller, Brate, Gump, Yoder, Keene
Bottom Row: Carroll, Overman, Early, Shaw, Patterson

Phi Beta Phi

PHI BETA PHI, the honorary journalistic fraternity, was founded at Miami in 1925. Membership in the organization is limited to thirteen men who have shown superior journalistic ability. Once every year the fraternity publishes a "Yellow Sheet" containing a humorous and satirical treatment of all branches of campus life and activity. While this is regarded by some as the chief function of Phi Beta Phi, such is not the case. The purpose of the fraternity is to foster the best literary endeavors of the student body, and to aid in the dissemination of news.

One of the principal aims of the present body is that of uniting with some national jouralistic group. With the discontinuance of the Journalism Department in 1924, Sigma Delta Chi, national honorary journalistic fraternity, withdrew the local charter. Interest in journalism has steadily increased in the university during the last four years and it is probable that Phi Beta Phi will soon become a unit of some national honorary.

Officers for 1927-1928 are: Lynne Baker, president; Richard Young, secretary; S. A. Switzer, treasurer.

Lambda Tau

LAMBDA TAU is the women's honorary literary society founded at Miami in 1918. It is the aim of Lambda Tau to promote and stimulate literary activity of the highest type and to give some recognition to those who have done honor work in literature, especially in the fields of creative writing.

Women who are eligible for membership must be highly recommended by a professor of the English department. Membership is limited to ten.

The meetings of the organization consist of informal discussion of books, poetry, and plays, and of the creative achievements of its members.

This year four new members were admitted. They are Ernestine Death, Frances Hoy, Minerva Clephane and Lucille Carpenter. Initiation services were held at the home of Mrs. F. S. Clark. Initiates, in order to prove their worthiness, were required to read some of their original work. It is customary for the new members of Lambda Tau to give a banquet for the old members and patronesses.

The officers for the past year are: Ethel Honnert, president; and Virginia Pearce, secretary-treasurer. Other members are Eleanor Handschin, Celia Camine, Martha Hood, Ethel De Arlington, and Louise Wood. Mrs. F. S. Clark, Dean Hamilton, and Mrs. Richards are patronesses.

Top Row: Camine, Honnert, Hood, Handschin, Clephane
Bottom Row: Pearce, Hoy, Carpenter, Wood, Death

Liberal Arts Club

LIBERAL ARTS CLUB was organized at Miami University in 1903. In those early co-ed days it included nearly all of the girls in school. In its original capacity it served as a social organization as well as a literary society. Miss Mary Covington, now Mrs. S. R. Williams, was elected first president, and Dr. Hepburn, Professor of English, was made an honorary member of the club.

With the addition of the teachers college and the subsequent increase in the number of women students enrolled in the university, the club grew so rapidly that it became necessary to place eligibility to membership on a basis of scholarship and to exclude two year students.

The object of the present organization is to encourage the study and appreciation of literature and the fine arts. The members endeavor to meet periodically for the presentation and discussion of literary works.

Fifteen new girls were admitted this year. Following the initiation a formal banquet was held at the Spinning Wheel.

Initiated members are entitled to wear the pin, a tiny gold eagle feather. The president of the organization serves as a member of the Women's Student Council.

The officers for the year 1927-1928 are: Eleanor Pearson, president; Helen Harris, vice-president; Aileen Hiestand, secretary; and Martha Hood, treasurer.

Alethenai

ALETHENAI, a national honorary literary society, was founded at the University of Illinois. Treis Chapter was established at Miami in 1915. The purpose of Alethenai is to stimulate and encourage literary activities. This is done through the study of the works of the great writers and through the recognition of individual efforts in this field.

The symbol of the club is a small gold gavel pin. Selection of new members is made on the basis of scholarship. It is limited to those women in the Liberal Arts and Bachelor of Science Colleges who have attained honor grades.

Monthly meetings are held in which interesting programs are given by members of the faculty. During the past year the club has been very fortunate in having a number of informal discussions led by Miss Hamilton, Mr. Fife, Mr. Sinclair, and Mr. Da Cruz.

Twenty-six new members were taken into the group on March 29. The initiation was followed by a formal banquet at the Tallawanda Tea Room.

The officers for the year 1927-1928 are: Mary Kumler, president; Eva Sacheroff, vice-president; Ethel Honnert, secretary; Virginia Pearce, corresponding secretary; Genevieve White, treasurer.

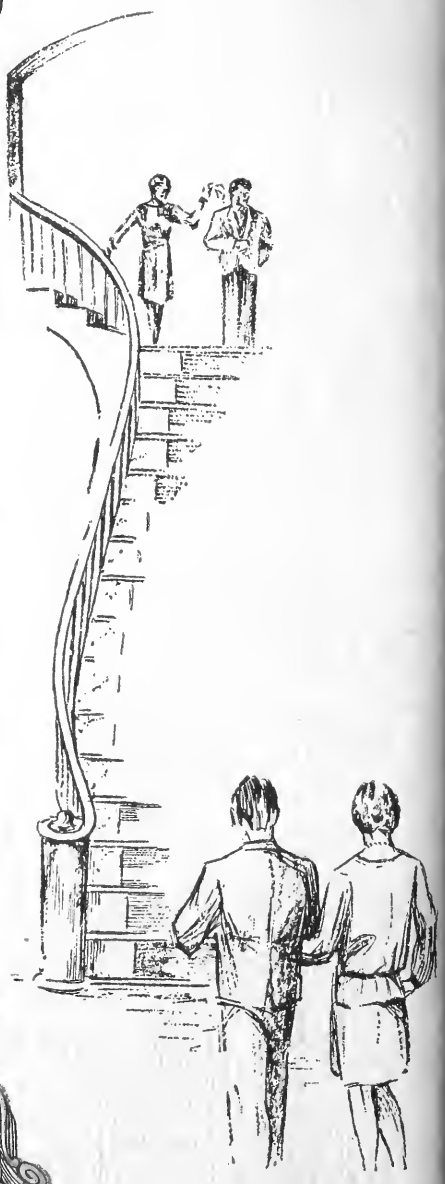
Organizations

Today

Cooperating in recreation and work they unite in an effort to achieve the highest type of social life – their responsibilities made easy by mutual comradeship.



Tomorrow

Friendly and tolerant, aided by an understanding of their fellow-men, they will be prepared to meet the needs of a complex social environment.

SORORITIES

Women's Liberal Arts Pan-Hellenic

THE Woman's Inter-Fraternity Council of Miami University is composed of three delegates selected from each of the four-year sororities on the Miami campus. The purpose of this council is three-fold: to regulate rules for rushing, to regulate other matters of local interest, and to encourage the chapters to take an active interest in all college activities for the common good. So far as it is possible Pan-Hellenic Council has done these things.

National Pan-Hellenic has decreed that as soon as two or more national sororities exist in a college that a local council shall be established, and in accordance with this rule, the Miami council was formed with representatives of four nationals in the order of ther founding. They are Delta Zeta, Delta Delta Delta, Chi Omega and Alpha Omicron Pi. Since its beginning, six other sororities have added representatives: Sigma Kappa, Delta Gamma, Theta Upsilon, Kappa Tau Kappa, Delta Xi, and Zeta Tau Alpha.

Offices of Pan-Hellenic are held for one year in rotation by each chapter in the order of its establishment at Miami. At present the officers are: Elizabeth Hanlon, president; Hazel Engle, vice-president; Marguerite Kimmel, secretary; and Mildred Schiller, treasurer.

Women's Educational Pan-Hellenic

THE Pan-Hellenic Council is organized to furnish a forum for the discussion of all matters of interest to educational sororities, to establish standards of excellence along every line of sorority endeavor, as an organization, as a factor in school, as a force in the lives of graduate members, to define a code of sorority ethics, and to serve as a court of appeals in case of sorority difficulties.

In addition to this, the educational Pan-Hellenic, in a joint meeting with liberal arts Pan-Hellenic, makes and enforces rush rules, and encourages all chapters to take an active interest in all school and college activities for the common good.

The first social function of the organization is a Pan-Hellenic dance given during rush week for all rushees. This is to give all rushees a fair chance in meeting girls of all Greek letter societies. The social meeting in the spring is usually a bridge tea for the sorority girls.

Business meetings are held the first Thursday of each month and special meetings may be called by the chairman at any time. Officers for this year are Elizabeth Dearing, president; Jeanette O'Dea, vice-president; Edna Coy, recording secretary; Genevieve White, corresponding secretary; and Irene Burns, treasurer.

FRATERNITIES

Miami's Fraternities

FRATERNITIES have always played an important part in life at Miami, and have in past years contributed much to her advancement. Known as the "Mother of Fraternities," Miami has fostered the founding of four large national fraternities. Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta, and Sigma Chi, known throughout the fraternity world as the Miami Triad, first thrived under the maternal care of Miami.

Beta Theta Pi first made its appearance in 1839; Phi Delta Theta in 1848, and Sigma Chi in 1855. Each expanded rapidly, branching out into all directions until they became truly national.

To this list was added in 1906 Phi Kappa Tau, which emulated its older brothers, soon expanded and became recognized as leaders in the fraternity councils.

In addition to these, chapters of other old and powerful nationals were established here at various intervals during this time.

Back in the old days when Miami was the "Yale of the Early West," and fraternities were young, a true feeling of fellowship existed here. Today Miami has changed in many ways, but the same friendliness and inter-fraternity fellowship still exists.

Where Spirit of "Miami Triad" Originated

Men's Pan-Hellenic

MEN'S PAN-HELLENIC or inter-fraternity council is the only organization through which the university may have association with the fraternities as a group. It also does much to maintain and further the friendship and pleasant relations between fraternity men.

It is the duty of this group to study and discuss rushing rules, cooperative buying, buying through the university, regulating maximum expenditures for social functions, or any problem of common interest.

This council is made up of two representatives from each fraternity, the president and a Junior member. Representatives for this year were: Beta Theta Pi, Jack Greer and Albert Dietz; Phi Delta Theta, Lynne Baker and Wilbur Ewbanks; Delta Kappa Epsilon, Jack Cronin and James Robinson; Sigma Chi, George Bowers and Albert Johnston; Delta Upsilon, Wilbur Coulton and Lysle Adams; Phi Kappa Tau, Frederick Kramer and Kent Larick; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, St. Clair Switzer and Lloyd Douglass; Delta Theta Chi, Edward Isakle and John Shuster; Sigma Delta Rho, Don Downey and Raymond Nasser; Theta Upsilon Omega, Clay Flynn and Charles Brown; Beta Kappa, Ross Mooney and Herbert Perrill; Sigma Nu, Roy Witherby and Archie Kelly.

The Pan Hellenic Tour

Here we are in Quebec! What?—haven't you heard? Many of the Greeks from Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, have drained their treasuries, cast aside their worries and decided to journey to Europe. If you will all come closer, you can see these students as they step aboard ship. Although this is a Pan Hellenic tour, as yet, the Greeks have not intermingled but are remaining with those in the bonds. And listen—if you will come still closer, I will impart to you many tales of the Miami Greeks.

The first to step aboard are the Beta Theta Pis. They are a bit saddened, for they have had a hard year. They have deteriorated to such an extent that their alumni are ashamed to return to Miami and say, "I was a Beta." They used to have the best location for a frat house on the campus. But what a house! It was so foul and rotten that it was condemned and the proud Betas were forced to migrate to a little insignificant hut on a back street. Then, to increase their humility, this hut almost burned down one day—but Oxford's capable fire department saved the shack. Betas never seem to be able to reach the happy medium. While in school, they are either Phi Betes or flunkers; they either fall passionately in love, or absolutely ignore feminine charms; and when they leave "collitch" they become either ministers of the gospel or professional drunkards. Last year the Betas took their poverty lightly by giving "Hard times parties." This year they give none—they quake at the thought of a fair maiden gazing upon their living conditions. Nevertheless, they gloat on keen competition—they are running a close race with the Dekes to see which can get the most men kicked out for unmentionable misdemeanors. Is it any wonder the Betas have harrowed expressions?

Look this way!—The brazen Chi Omegas are approaching! The dark circles under their eyes aren't from studiousness, but dissipation. They all have eye strain from attempting to see the dirty side of every story. They are famous at Miami for their promiscuous smoking. Some day they will become brave and blow smoke in the Dean's face. Sister Pearson holds up the moral and intellectual end of the sorority—she rates "A's" and sits in on Student Council meetings. Their activity for the past year was having the Junior Prom Queen be a Chi Omega—but everyone admits that Sister Miller was a "darb" that night. Their intelligence is rather questionable, so they rate dates by indulging in all of the four-arm exercises. But at that—the Chis will give gayety to our tour!

Tramp! Tramp!—Here are the Dekes in full force. They can make more noise than the whole German Army. They are so athletic that they wear "M" sweaters to formals and so cavemannish that they knock a girl on the head before they ask her for a date. They delight in playing poker— in fact, the only way they pay their bills is to invite the Sigma Chis over to play, and then, take all their dough. They hate the Sigs and the Sigs loathe them. All the Dekes have such a good sense of humor that they announce all jokes against any of the dear brethren at the dinner table and then proceed to howl and scream for many hours. No other fraternity has a brother Hedges for a fencing coach, and therefore, no other fraternity but Dekes practices fencing with pokers The gallant D. K. E.'s are having their sun porch fixed because they think they're improving so much that they will need much more room for pledges next year. Once they found a sweet note written by Phi Delt Baker. This note should never have been read by anyone but a certain fair damsel. The Dekes knew this and read it. Consequently for a week, the Dekes spent their evenings calling up Lynne telling him he was "Purty slick!" As dancers, they would be better grass cutters, but still they insist on throwing house parties and formals. These house parties and formals are their ruination. Half of the chapter is always up before the Discipline Committee, while the other half is always on social probation. They are all anxiously awaiting their trip through Germany, where their size won't be noticed, and where they can guzzle beer without any ill feelings.

Trailing the Dekes are the dizzy Delta Zetas. They hop, skip and jump about like hyenas. Their pass word is "He's a honey," and their code is "Land him if you can." They specialize in Dekes and Sigs. They are so hard to rule that their fair prexy resigned at the beginning of the year because of a nervous breakdown. She tried too hard to make them go straight — but alas! Their chapter meetings are held at Willis's every afternoon at four. They run in Willis's, shaking their hands as if in a great frenzy, and then calmly titter, "Hello-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o!" They abandoned their tradition this year by not having a sweet, girlish rose dance at their formal. They just came to the conclusion that they weren't the type to put on such an innocent act. Whenever the Delta Zetas want to make a deep impression on some rushee, they drag her over to their beautiful sun dial which graces the middle of the campus. Then she is sure to be wearing a lamp the next day! Delta Zetas will pledge any extremely lengthy or extremely short girl. But to be of average height, and be pledged Delta Zeta one must have an abundance of character, personality, and "it." Result?—Most Delta Zetas are either giants or dwarfs! But then—variety is the spice of life!

The Sigma Chis are gayly tripping along. When they go aboard they will probably throw kisses and fling dandelions into the air. They dote on secret marriages and tea parties. They seem to gain some sort of inner satisfaction by being wedded for years without revealing it. They have so many artists in their chapter that they delayed the ship a whole day by stopping in Greenwich Village to make a few hot sketches. Brother Wurnelle will probably have the ship all decorated and painted before it reaches England. The Sigs have so many freshmen at Fisher Hall that the University Country Club is also becoming noted for its tea parties. To be a Sig one must learn the gentle art of coyly sticking out the little finger while holding a tea cup. All the Sigs are famous for their exquisite ball room dancing, their "marvelous" serenades and their sincere attitudes. They return the hatred of the Dekes with all the fervor that a social butterfly has for a brawny athlete. They prefer gentlemen's activities to strenuous exercise. But then—they do have good looking pins and the girls love to wear them.

The Tri Delts are advancing in groups of three, singing "Shining" and gazing at the moon. The Delter Delter Delters have revolted against too much holiness and therefore are in a continual state of confusion. Their ancestors would be shocked at many of them. They have started P. Aing—but not at Willis's. As yet, they aren't experienced enough to attempt being collegiate in such a rowdy place. They are getting the P. A. practice by frequenting the Purity. For some strange reason the Tri Delts think they are the best on the campus! But they have been taken down a peg or two this year. They now know better than to trifle with Pan Hellenic. While others are giving gay rush parties next year, the Deltas will sit back and chew chewing gum. What will become of them no one knows. The Tri Delts insist that they are different from other girls. Lord!—whoever denied it? They try to be all-round girls and as a result they have P. A.ers, Phi Betes, activity demons and dumb-bells. They are puffed up with conceit because they won the Phi Bete cup and had the May Queen. If they only know what trifles these are! They seem to have been favorable to the peroxide type of blonds this year. Well—just so they don't try to be so different as to jump in the ocean on the way over!

Pursuing the Tri Delts are the Phi Delts. They are the descendants from the knights of old, now known as the "Personality Boys." Brother Baker has entered in all the activities on the campus in order to put the fraternity on the map. Stick to it—and maybe you'll come out ahead some day. Their freshmen won the P. A. cup this year, and didn't have a hard time doing it. The Phi Delt trophy room is their best place for making acquaintances. It is here that pins are planted and dream kisses are given. No Phi Delt is allowed to leave the house if his face is dirty, his hair uncombed, or his shirt wrinkled. He must be a gentleman at all times. Brother Oswald gave them a shock by being elected April King. They will spend the rest of their days recovering from the insult to their knighthood. This year they seem to be favoring Tri Delts. Is it because both Tri Delts and Phi Delts strive so hard to attain cleanliness of souls? Maybe so! Anyway, we have no regrets that they're going on the tour with us.

Put on your specs! The Delta Gammas are in view. At Miami, they are called "Delta Gamma-a-a-a-a-a-a-a-s." They have an irritating and nauseating habit of adding an "a" at the end of every word. They whine something like this—"Oh, Good-ay, do we get some cand-ay? Why Besh-ay and Dot-ay, aren't you going to play bridge-ay with us-ay?" Their cause for high-hattedness is a complete mystery to the entire campus. They spend many hours in thier rooms, giving themselves that winning cupid's bow, that school girl complexion and those winsome, greasy, curly eye-lashes. They appear at 7:30's dressed as if they were going to a tea dance. They can tell more "dirt" in ten minutes than Elinor Glynn could write in a year. For a while they put their noses to their books in the vain hope of attaining the Phi Bete Cup—but alas—they waited too long! They have a Delta Gamma wardrobe which is quite unique and which often helps them out when in despair as to what to wear. They indulge in desperate love affairs which last about two months at the longest. But in spite of this, you'll have to hand it to them for coming up faster than any other sorority on the campus!

The yipping Sig Alphs are following the gay Delta Gammas. A Sig Alph has the sweet, brotherly feeling toward the dear Delta Gammas. Really, the love between these two groups is noble and uplifting. When a Sig Alph is in dire need he turns to the "anchor" girls and they console him in a womanly fashion. The Sig Alphs love to bray their clever songs under dormitory windows. Their upper classmen are robust he-men, while their under classmen are puny and emaciated. But the Sig Alphs' food will soon give them enough muscle and strength to win some sort of a well-sounding championship. They have a tiny house and a huge barn, but spend most of their time loitering in the street in front of their mansion. When they plant their pins they have serious intentions, but are often disappointed. They insist on clothing themselves in queer kinds of sweaters and peculiar looking "trou." As long as they don't get lost in Paris we'll let them come on the tour.

And now the A. O. P.'s come shuffling along. They almost didn't come on the tour because of lack of harmony among their sisters. It is rumored that they are going to divide into two sororities. One will be the narrow minded, student council sleuth, God's gift to women type, and the other will be the P. Aing, jolly, good sport and fickle type. They make noble attempts at being good girls but often fail. They have a burning hate for the Delta Zetas, in fact, the feeling is mutual. Jealousy may be the cause of this friction and dissension. When they date a man more than once they start contemplating marriage and divorce. They are proud of their electric-light sign pins and their peculiar whistle. Europe will do them good!

The beer-loving Delts are staggering forth! One night we listened in on initiation and heard that D. T. D. stands for "Down Town Drunks." The Delts have a strange fear of being thought independents so they decorate themselves with badges six feet square so that the world will know that they are loyal Delta Tau Deltas, although no one has yet found out why they are so proud of their fraternity. They have such potent lines when on dates that it takes little or no persuasion for them to have fair maidens linger with them until all hours of the night. But once this year three of them were caught, ousted and now they are back in society again. The Delts look forward with great glee to the visits of their alumni tennis champ—he has that intangible something that they just love. They think that their dances are so "hot" that they need no decorations or food. They are content with merely twisting a few straggly strips of paper around the lights, and handing out weak punch. The Delts use all the dirt that used to be in their house to help plant grass on their Sahara desert in front of their palace. At last they paid off the mortgage of their house and are now spending their shekels on beer and pretzels. The house prides itslef on its numerous sneak dates and good looking furniture. Three weak rahs for the "Down Town Drunks."

(Concluded)

The buxom country maidens are about to step aboard. They go by the name of Sigma Kappas at Oxford. They have noble ideals and big feet. Although they had three members on Student Council this year, they also had some of their sorores get in "Dutch." Their girls are either exceedingly plump or painfully thin and scrawny. The Sigma Kappas who date spend every minute with their "big Thrill" and those who don't, go to Y. W. meetings and make teams. The Keene Mansion is a haven for sneak dates and "big neck" parties, therefore Sister Keene was elected president for the second semester. During one of their giddy moments the Sigma Kappas decided to fling a circus instead of a formal. As a result, the chaperons were caged like so many monkeys, and the dancers acted like so many monkeys. The Sigma Kappas are preparing to have a good time milking cows and feeding chickens in Paris!

The D. U.'s are a bit late because they lingered around Oxford college, bidding all the Oxfordites farewell. There's no use evading the truth, so we might just as well tell you that it is a known fact that the Delta Upsilons are the biggest, if not the best, neckers on the campus. There is nothing they love better than stopping under a tree on a dark street and giving their date a few smacks on the mouth. They love their location,—so far away from the maddening crowd. Here, they can have dates behind the garage without the slightest tremour of anyone "finding them out." It is often hard for the D. U.'s to rate dates on the campus so they wend their way out to Western or take two steps to Oxford college. It is said that they go over big at these two institutions. The Delta Upsilon brothers scoff at serenades. They either can't sing or they prefer to investigate the contents of their famous cellar. Maybe and probably both! The D. U.'s are supposed to have an open initiation—but no one ever goes! Some time we'll get a big gang and go and see the boys enter the sacred bonds. They think they are coming up socially because the Sophomore Hop Chairman and the Junior Prom Chairman happened to be affiliated with them. But—ta—ta—the D. U.'s do shave oftener than they used to—due to Brother McNamara's influence. Another virtue—they are quite playful, in fact so playful that they turned Brother McNamara out on the roof one day, with nothing on but his under garments, and as if that wasn't enough, they turned the fire hose on him! This gave the Oxford college girls something to think about—. Paris will welcome the inebriated Delta Upsilons!

The Phi Kappa Taus are all excited about going to Europe! They say they think it will be great sport to coach sports over in Germany. They are all quite sad because "Piddle" couldn't come with them—they thought that he could introduce them to all of the Hot French Marms—but alas!—they'll have to make all the advances. They are all worth while men who live in a two by four house and who make grades. There isn't much scandal to tell about them because they live so far away from every one that they can get away with murder. Brother Young keeps all notorious news concerning the Phi Taus out of the "Student"—so you see we feel that their personalities are hidden. They love to yell and shout to let people know they are around. When things are quiet, they will make themselves known on the ship.

And that is all that are going on the famous Pan Hellenic Tour! There were many who tried to come—but just couldn't make it. The Theta U.'s decided that such a wild trip would be too hard on their athletic careers; the Zeta Tau Alphas wanted to stay home to make fudge to send to the boys on the Tour; the Sigma Nus preferred to sing "White Star of Sigma Nu" in their native land; the Delta Theta Chis are all going on crosscountry runs; the Theta Upsilon Omegas are selling Real Silk Hosiery in New York; the Beta Kappas are going to summer school in order to have enough hours to win the Phi Bete Cup again; the Sigma Delta Rhos are planning to take advantage of this opportunity and get in some pre-season rushing; and all of the T. C. Sororities had to take "Child Psychology" this summer to make "bigger and better" teachers.

Well G'bye folks, do not tell all you know about the Greeks! Handkerchiefs are being waved, the sailors are screaming, and the ship is leaving!

The 1928 RECENSIO has gone to press. The staff once more has time to resume their class room activities. Mounting board, rubber cement, scissors, rulers, and typewriters have been laid away, awaiting the appearance of the next sufferers and "toilers of the wee hours."

Mistakes have been made. It is now too late to correct them. Some names have been spelled so that the misnamed will be unable to recognize their cognomen. Some may be listed as belonging to organizations of which they never heard. Yes, there are mistakes in English. For all these we sincerely apologize. We only hope that the good points, if you happen to find any, will outweigh these mistakes.

Any one who has happened to drop around the office much during this year realizes the amount of cooperation and assistance which we have received from various sources. Unusual as it may seem, even members of the staff worked. If the work of the Sophomore assistants is to be any indication of the industriousness of next year's staff, Dietz need have few worries, for from the time the first call was made to the typing of the last copy they were always on the job, ready to help in any way they could.

We also wish to thank Mr. Webb for his assistance. By prompt delivery of orders, and working over tine when we were rushed, he did much to enable us to get work to the engraver on scheduled time. Mr. Noble Ropkey, of the Indianapolis Engraving Company, was also one of our reliable assistants. From the first of the year he worked with us to give us the best possible book our limited budget would allow. The one who completes the final step, and does much to determine whether or not the book will be a success is the printer. Here we were very successful. The printing shop was placed at our disposal. When any problem arose it was settled directly with Mr. Glen Holden, superintendent, and those who did the work. In this way we were able to get a much better job of printing than would have otherwise been obtained. To Mr. Ralph Mock and The Republican Publishing Company we wish to express our appreciation for this cooperation.

There are many others who have assisted in many ways, yet space does not permit us to mention them all. So to all who have helped to make the 1928 RECENSIO what it is, we express our sincere appreciation.

In our book we have tried to show the significance of college life and the value of its training. In working out this art theme we could, of course, only express it as we saw it. There may be places where it will seem to you that we have over stepped facts. True, no statement will apply to all cases, yet, I believe if you will consider the idea you will find that, at least, this is the ideal toward which we are all striving.

The 1928 RECENSIO is now completed; we have finished our task and turn the result over to you. Our one hope is that you will like it, that the book, and that for which it stands, will mean as much to you as it does to us.
